Hoover Reveals Weyerhaeuser Boy Held in Spokane Detective Tells

LOCATION OF HIDEOUT IS ANNOUNCED

Federal Men Grilling

Salt Lake City

WARNING IS ISSUED

Identification Orders For Third Accomplice Is Given to Police

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 10. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, said today his agents had ascertained that George Weyerhaeuser Jr., 9-year-old kidnaped Tacoma, Wash. youth, had been hidden at 1509 West Eleventh avenue, in Spokane, Wash.

"We have just definitely located the hideout where the Weyerhaeuser boy was held," Hoover told newsmen, after a telephone communication with his agents at Spokane.

The hideout contained a cupboard in which, Hoover said, "the little boy was kept." It was in a house.

Hoover described the hideout angle as "important to the investigation."

Pair Grilled
He also revealed that Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Waley, whose arrest and confession at Salt Lake City, was announced last night, were being grilled continually by the "G-Men" in an effort to clear up all details in the case.

A warning was issued that anyone giving assistance to William Mahan, third suspect, would be prosecuted "under the harboring statute." He escaped police at Butte, Mont., Sunday morning, abandoning his car containing in excess of $15,000 of the ransom money, Hoover said.

Immediately on receiving notice of location of the hideout—across the state of Washington, Tacoma—Hoover issued orders that a police guard "be established outside of the house and no one be permitted to enter."

Identification Rushed
Hoover said thousands of "identification orders" for Mahan, who escaped early yesterday at Butte, Mont., had been rushed to key cities of the country.

The order carried the 10 finger (Please turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

GRAB 28 AT COCK FIGHT

Sheriff's Raid Ends Pastime

Six deputy sheriffs, armed with tear gas guns, swooped down on a group of 30 Mexicans yesterday afternoon, and managed to gather in 28 of them on charges of participating in the old Mexican pastime of cock fighting. Two escaped. Along with the 28 men, officers gathered in 22 fighting cocks that were still in a fighting mood.

Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean, accompanied by Deputies Fred Hunston, G. F. McKelvey, James Ragan, Ezra Stanley and R. R. Lutes, surrounded the group gathered on the Keene ranch in Telegraph canyon.

Those booked at the county jail were: Juan Gutierrez, Richfield; Ramundo Munoz and Manuel Gomez, Corona; Antonio Guzman, Felipe Guzman and Feliponia Juarez, Azusa; Teofilo Contreras and Vidal Contreras, Montebello;

WEYERHAEUSER ABDUCTOR SOUGHT

A nationwide man-hunt is on for William Mahan, believed to be the owner of an automobile abandoned in Butte, Montana, containing over $15,000 in money paid for the George Weyerhaeuser ransom. According to a confession made by Waley and his wife, Mahan was implicated in the kidnaping. (Associated Press Photo.)

NRA CHANGES FIGHT FATAL APPROVED TO VISITOR

Plan Would Restrict Youth Who Left Here For Arkansas Home Slain in Needles

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Administration leaders decided late today on a plan for extending NRA under which exemptions from the anti-trust law would be permitted only if labor requirements of the old law were met.

The plan was worked out at an informal meeting of the senate finance committee with Donald R. Richberg, retiring chairman of the recovery board, and leading NRA foes including Senator Borah (R., Ida.). Not all agreed on the plan. Borah indicated he was not satisfied.

SHOOTING OF MAN PROBED

ANAHEIM, Monday, June 10.—Anaheim police today were investigating a mysterious shooting reported to them by Dr. C. W. Foster, who lives near Stanton, and who told police he had treated Dominguez Mendoza for a slight bullet wound in his side.

Mendoza, who lives at the rear of 217 La Palma street, Anaheim, was not badly injured.

Piedad Avelos and Gregorio Avilas, Stanton; Francisco Valdez, Anaheim; Antonio Gil, Orange; Augustine Mara, Adolfo Salazar and Juan Lopez, Los Angeles; and Fidel Torres, Colton. The following were released under $25 bail each: Refugio Marquez, Colton; Ruben Rodriguez and Cruz Perez, Santa Ana; Jess Covarubias, La Jolla; Jose Flores, Wilmington; Rutilio Figueroa and Jose Garcia, Delhi; Jose Pimentieri, Casa Blanca; Raymond Castillas, Azusa; and Mike and Charles Maldonado, Norwalk.

The district attorney's office today issued complaints against Oscar Keene and his brother, Arthur, charging them with allowing the cock fights to be staged on their premises. The 28 Mexicans and the Keene brothers were taken to the Keene ranch this afternoon to be arraigned.

SALT LAKE CITY, Monday, June 10. (AP)—While preparations went forward today for removal of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley to Tacoma to answer a state charge of kidnaping 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, it was asserted they will not be arraigned here until a warrant has been received from Washington, D. C.

When it has been received, a complaint will be signed by Dan Shields, United States district attorney here, and a hearing held before United States Commissioner Edward Dunn.

The Waleys were believed still held in the department of justice bureau in the federal building today. Employees in the building said they had not been removed.

Department of justice agents refused to say.

Two breakfasts were taken into the offices of the bureau of investigation this morning. Late last night a man entered carrying a suitcase and holding women's clothing over his arm.

FULLERTON MAN CRASH VICTIM

Joseph A. Brown, 75, for the past 23 years a resident of Fullerton, was killed in an automobile accident yesterday morning 18 miles from Tucson, Ariz. It was reported here today.

Mrs. Laura R. Brown, his wife, had started for Fullerton by train Saturday, and Mr. Brown was to make the trip by auto. His car was involved in a collision with a hay truck, according to reports received here.

Survivors in addition to his wife are a son, Vernon, of Fullerton, two brothers, Oscar Brown of Fullerton and William H. Brown of Nebraska.

RESTRICT JOBS UNDER SERA

SAN FRANCISCO, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Frank Y. McLaughlin, state emergency relief administrator, ruled today that two persons from the same family cannot be employed in the administrative department of SERA. Auditors were ordered to check personal lists to ferret out existing cases.

THE DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DEW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Monday June 10. The inevitable has happened to Huey Long's entourage — disension from within. His two main advisers, Robert Brothers and Earle J. Christenberry, are on the outs. Brothers was the brains of the Long organization, the man behind the scenes. Christenberry, a light-loving, routine secretary, became jealous of Brothers, eventually forced him out. Incidentally, Huey has a new unofficial brain trust. William K. Hutchinson, of the International News Service, is ghost-writing the Kingfish's new book. . . . Outside the president's special press conference, when he announced NRA revision, reclined a sleeping figure. Despite the noise of 300 newspapermen crowded in one room, he slept on. Finally someone hung

Ogden Headquarters For Kidnaping Trio

OGDEN, Utah, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Ogden was headquarters for the Weyerhaeuser kidnap gang, Julius Thulin, 71-year-old grandfather of Margaret Waley, told the Ogden Standard-Examiner here today.

Margaret Thulin Waley arrived in Ogden from the northwest the morning of June 1.

"Margaret arrived at 11:30 a. m. Monday, June 1," said Mr. Thulin today. "She was joined by her husband 30 minutes later. She said she had arrived by train, and that Harmon would join her. They later left by cab for one of the railroad stations."

"Last Friday morning at 5:15 o'clock someone rapped at my front door. A man asked me if Harmon Waley lived at this address. I told him, no, and he said 'that is funny.' He said, 'Well, I've a package to leave here.' It was a suitcase. He told me his name was Davis and left the suitcase and departed. He was in a Ford car."

"Friday I decided to go to Salt Lake and tell Harmon and Margaret about the suitcase. I left it in Ogden. When I located them they informed me that they had picked up the bag."

"Saturday night about 9 o'clock Davis reappeared."

"Here I am again," he said. "Did my friends pick up the suitcase?"

"Yes," I replied. "And they have both been arrested in Salt Lake."

"The damn fools," said Davis, and started on the run for his car."

Officers here believe Davis was William Mahan, the third suspect.

FINNS TO MAKE TUGWELL GIVES DEBT PAYMENT WARNING

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Finland will pay her war debt instalment due the United States June 15 in money already earmarked in the National City Bank of New York.

Finland is the only one of the war debtor nations which has paid the debt instalment, amounting to about one-quarter million dollars semi-annually, regularly.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Monday, June 10. (AP)—An assertion that the nation is "exposed to dangers of internal strife" in the wake of the supreme court's NRA decision was made today by Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, undersecretary of agriculture in the Roosevelt administration.

of Finding Money After Chasing Man

BUTTE, Mont., Monday, June 10. (AP)—A boxing detective with a photographic memory, who spotted William Mahan and recovered $15,155 of the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser ransom loot, confidently took the lead in a four-state chase for Mahan and a possible associate of the asserted kidnaper.

Thirty-nine-year-old J. E. Mooney, once a crack lightweight of the A. E. F., smiled at compliments, growled about a dog and said he would finish the job quickly because his wife and three children could use a bit of a reward.

Description of Kidnap Fugitive Is Given Out

WASHINGTON, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Here is the official description of the man sought throughout the west and middle west today as one of the principals in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping:

William Mahan, alias Bill Mohan, William Morell, William Dainard, or William Morrell. Aged 32, height 5 ft. 10½ in., 156½ pounds, regular build, black hair, brown eyes, medium complexion.

Federals in Broadcast
While Mooney related just how he flushed Mahan at a street corner early Sunday, police and federal agents sent a special broadcast throughout Montana, Idaho, Eastern Washington and Northern Wyoming both for Mahan and a vaguely-described companion.

Authorities theorized Mahan might have been accompanied from Salt Lake City by another member of the gang which abducted 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser.

Mooney was driving his partner, Detective Frank J. Roe, home from night duty when he became suspicious of a parked "mouse-gray" Ford V-8 sedan with Utah plates.

Near the car Mooney recognized with one glance a man he had arrested on the streets of this copper capital nearly seven years ago for a Rathdrum, Idaho, bank robbery.

It was the distinctively-scarred Mahan wearing a Panama, a blue suit and carefully chosen brown gloves.

Mahan saw Mooney and ran. Racing across the street, still clutching his gloves, probable protection against fingerprints, the fugitive hurdled a back fence and sped past a bulldog.

Dog Blocks Path
The dog leaped into action and blocked Mooney's path. Mahan hurried to temporary safety across a second fence.

"I knew that was Mahan," said Mooney, "there couldn't be any mistake about it. I might have caught him then, but I didn't want to shoot that dog."

Mooney and Roe took the sedan to headquarters. There investigators pried off the locked rear compartment door and poked into the upholstery before they found the currency.

The bills, about evenly divided in $5, $10 and $20 denominations, were wrapped in an oilcloth and a Los Angeles newspaper which ironically carried details of the serial numbers, alongside which spending check marks had been made.

According to a report filed with highway patrol officers, the wheels of the car kicked, throwing the machine off the highway. Others injured in the accident, and who were taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital are Jack Sagorsky and W. Lipshutz of Los Angeles, both suffering from possible skull fractures, and Mrs. Ray Sagorsky and Louis Shonholtz, also of Los Angeles, who suffered severe cuts and bruises.

The body of Krolik was removed to the Winblier mortuary, where an inquest was scheduled for late today.

BONE-HEADEDNESS REAL!

New Disease is Discovered

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Monday, June 10. (AP)—Discovery of a new disease, a real bone-headedness, due to thickening of the skull, was announced today at the scientific exhibit of the American Medical Association and the Canadian Medical Association, entirely on the inside.

The skull thickens in patches. The discovery was made within the last year by Sherwood Moore, M. D., professor of radiology at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis. By examining 20,000 X-ray skull pictures, Dr. Moore found that of 6650 persons, 229 had the thick interior patches. Ninety-eight per cent were women. Records showed that these people had suffered from excessive faintness of the shoulders and hips, from bad headaches, frequent dizziness, muscular weakness, mental depression, nervousness, dimness of vision, double vision and in their final stages invalidism.

Dr. Moore offered an explanatory theory based on the preponderance of women sufferers: That it may come from failure to follow the natural course of reproduction. That is, women have children later in life than nature intended, or have none at all.

'GRASS ROOTS' G. O. P. 'S CALLED TO FIGHT FOR CONSTITUTION

FRANK LOWDEN CITES 'GREAT U. S. CRISIS'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Monday, June 10. (AP)—Frank O. Lowden, "elder statesman" of the Republican party, told midwestern republicans of the grass roots conference today that the GOP must battle to "preserve the constitution."

Republicans from 10 midwestern states bent on reviving their party "from the grass roots up," heard Lowden, former governor of Illinois, say the "essentials of our form of government" are now "challenged in high places by a proposal to amend the constitution."

EIGHT INJURED IN COUNTY

Automobile accidents in Santa Ana and Orange county highways over the week-end resulted in injury to eight of the persons involved.

When cars driven by Eugene M. Edwards of 2072 South Birch street, and J. W. Sander of Orange collided Saturday afternoon at Main street and Central avenue, the Edward machine burst into flames. Mr. Edwards and a passenger, Dick Pierce, 406 North Sycamore, were only slightly injured. Sander was booked at the county jail on charges of drunk driving.

Ruth Rule of 1615 West Fourth street was injured in an accident Saturday involving cars driven by Ira Dammerell, 841 North Van Ness, and Ray Badgley, 536 South Indiana street, Anaheim. The accident occurred at Eighth and Ross streets. Miss Rule was a passenger in the Dammerell car.

Pete Rodriguez, 21, of 916 Lincoln street, Anaheim, was injured yesterday afternoon when his car collided head-on with a machine driven by Fred G. Swanson, 30, of 1337 Cypress street, Santa Ana, on Placentia boulevard, when Swanson assertedly attempted to pass another car. Others injured in the accident were Sylvester Vazquez, 19, of Newport, and Albert Garcia of 1032 1/2 Custer street, Santa Ana.

An accident at the intersection of Highway 101 and Orangeforpe avenue yesterday morning resulted in injury to Miss Esther Miles, 24, and Elaine Miles, 4, both of Los Angeles. They were passengers in a car driven by Alex T. Burt, 49, of Los Angeles, which collided with a machine driven by Nick Bergana, also of Los Angeles.

WATER DISPUTE END IS SEEN

Early settlement of the long-drawn-out dispute over alleged wasting of water by gun clubs of Orange county was indicated today when Assistant Attorney General William Menton signed stipulations agreeing to continue injunction proceedings now pending against two of the clubs.

According to the stipulations which were returned to the Pasadena law firm of Hahn and Hahn, representing the clubs, hearings on the injunction were continued until August 7. In signing the stipulation, Mr. Menton said he believes the matter will be amicably settled before that date through a conference to be arranged.

At the same time the injunction proceedings were extended, Mr. Menton said, proceedings against a majority of the clubs now pending in the justice court at Huntington Beach also are being held in abeyance. The proceedings charge wastage of water, a misdemeanor under a county ordinance. The injunction proceedings to halt the pumping of water into duck ponds by the Westminster Gun club and the Blue Wing Gun club were filed more than a year ago.

FALLS 600 FEET; THEN CHUTE OPENS

Forced to make a delayed jump when the shroud strings of his parachute became entangled with the heel of his shoe, Jimmy Washburn completely opened his chute after falling 600 feet, and beat Troy Colback, world champion and his instructor, to the ground in a double-jump from an elevation of 3000 feet here yesterday. The jump was made at Eddie Martin's airport from a monoplane piloted by Floyd Wright.

OLD KIDNAPING PLOT REVEALED

SAN FRANCISCO, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Ann Harding, motion picture star, revealed today that efforts had been made to kidnap her 6-year-old daughter, Jane.

Miss Harding, who is now in Hollywood, explained that the kidnapping attempt referred to was one that occurred several years ago.

'G-Men', Lindbergh Law Lengthen Kidnap Odds

(By The Associated Press)
Firm-jawed "G-Men," armed with a law born of the Lindbergh tragedy, have steadily lengthened the odds against the kidnaper.

A "break" in the $200,000 abduction of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser—the arrest of a young married couple at Salt Lake City—sent the odds up again today.

Here is a list of other major kidnappings and their denouements since the Lindbergh baby was snatched from his crib at Hopewell, N. J., March 1, 1932.

February 12, 1933—Charles Böttcher, 2D, at Denver, $60,000 demanded; victim returned March 1, 1933. Verne Sankey, accused, hanged himself.

May 2, 1933—Peggy McMath, at Harwichport, Mass.; $80,000 paid; returned May 5, 1933; abductors convicted.

May 27, 1933—Mary McElroy, at Kansas City; $30,000 paid, returned next day; abductors convicted.

June 1, 1933—John (Jake the Barber) factor, at Chicago; $250,000 paid; returned July 12, 1933; Touhy gang convicted.

June 15, 1933—William Hamm Jr., at St. Paul, $100,000 demanded; returned.

July 7, 1933—John J. O'Connell Jr., at Albany, $40,000 paid; returned July 30, 1933; Manny Stewi convicted.

July 10, 1933—August Luer, at Alton, Ill., ransom not made public; returned July 16, 1933; abductors convicted.

July 12, 1933—Charles F. Urschel, at Oklahoma City; $200,000 paid, returned Aug. 1, 1933; kidnappers convicted.

Nov. 9, 1933—Brooke Hart, at San Jose, Calif.; slain; kidnappers lynched.

Jan. 17, 1934—Edward G. Bremer, at St. Paul; $200,000 paid; returned Feb. 8, 1934; kidnappers convicted.

April 25, 1934—John Robles, at Tucson, Ariz., found before $50,000 ransom negotiations were completed.

May 9, 1934—William F. Gettle, at Los Angeles; ransom unpaid; found unharmed May 14; five convicted.

Oct. 10, 1934—Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, at Louisville; $50,000 paid; returned home Oct. 15; T. H. Robinson Jr. sought; his wife and father arrested.

HERE IS STORY OF KIDNAPING BROUGHT UP TO TODAY

TACOMA, Monday, June 10. (AP)—George Weyerhaeuser, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser Jr., member of the wealthy lumber family, was kidnapped May 24, 1935, as he walked home from the Lowell school where he was a pupil.

The kidnapping, according to George's own story, took place between the Annie Wright Seminary, which his sister Ann, 13, attends, and the nearby tennis courts. He was accosted, he said, by a man who asked him for street direction and then carried him in an automobile, which he had seen if he cried out he would be hurt. The actual kidnapping took place about 12:10 p. m.

Mrs. Roderick Titcomb, his aunt, became alarmed at 1:30 p. m., and telephoned the school and learned none of his playmates had been seen since he left for home at 11:50 a. m., police were notified he was missing at 4:10 p. m.

Ransom Note
At 6:35 p. m., a note signed "Egoist" was delivered at the Weyerhaeuser home by special delivery mail. It demanded $200,000 in ransom and threatened harm to the boy if authorities were notified. George's signature was scrawled across the back of the envelope.

Other developments in the Northwest's most famous, modern crime by days include:

Saturday, May 25—Tacoma police broadcast coast-wide call to halt a tan California-licensed sedan, identified as the machine into which George was placed when he was taken by the kidnap gang. F. R. Titcomb and Charles Ingram, official spokesmen for the family, disappeared in an apparent attempt to contact kidnappers.

Sunday, May 26—Two advertisements appear in Seattle newspaper personal column signed "Percy Minnie" seeking contact between family and kidnappers in accordance with instructions in ransom note.

Monday, May 27—Text of ransom note revealed. Authorities agree to refrain from any interference until George is returned.

Tuesday, May 28—Third advertisement appears in Seattle paper declaring "We are ready—Percy Minnie" in strict conformity with ransom note demands. The advertisement lets the kidnappers know the family has collected the $200,000 in $5, $10 and $20 bills.

Wednesday, May 29—The dead line set by the kidnappers passed without new word from them.

Thursday, May 30—F. M. Bolcom, spokesman for the family, announces ransom has not been paid.

Friday, May 31—Ransom paid at unknown place, apparently by F. R. Titcomb, whose car was taken by the kidnappers.

Victim Released
Saturday, June 1—George released on a road near Issaquah and walked to home of Louis Bonifas, who started for Tacoma with the boy. Boy taken from Bonifas by Seattle newspaperman who takes him to the Weyerhaeuser home. Titcomb's car found abandoned in Seattle. The trunk in which George had been kept while the kidnap gang was traveling was in the back seat. Greatest man hunt in the history of the Northwest unleashed as Federal, State and local officials started after kidnap gang of six.

Sunday, June 2—Although George's statement said three of the kidnappers called each other "Al, Bill and Harry" it was discounted that Alvin Karpis, Harry Campbell and other gangsters had been in the kidnaping. Federal agents indicate they were seeking an unusually intelligent Northwest gang.

Monday, June 3—Announcement made that first ransom bill, of $20 denomination passed, June 2, at Huntington, Ore., on C. E. Hannon by a nervous man who purchased a ticket to Salt Lake City.

Hideout Hunted
Tuesday, June 4—Search for hideaway house where George was kept prisoner in a closet, believed to be near Issaquah, Wash., gets definitely under way.

Wednesday, June 5—George makes a mystery trip with Department of Justice agents in automobile, reportedly to help them find the hideaway house. Deputy Sheriffs from Seattle dash away on a hot tip which later proved unsuccessful. Portland police named six men wanted for questioning.

Thursday, June 6—Second ransom note passed at Spokane, Wash.; Federal agents attempt to trace ownership of $20 bill from 15 turned in at postal money order window.

Friday, June 7—Airplane search for kidnappers' lair attempted. Two itinerant photographers released at Grangeville, Idaho, after being detained by sheriff's deputies on report they passed ransom bills on postmaster at Elk City, Idaho, which later proved incorrect.

MORE ABOUT TWO HELD

and his wife were declared today to have received federal aid while residing here prior to the kidnaping.

Two Salt Lake City policemen get the credit for the first break in the kidnap hunt since the release of the 9-year-old lumber heir near Tacoma a week ago Saturday morning. They were W. M. Rogers, a detective, and Patrolman L. B. Gifford.

Following the discovery here Friday night of 20 ransom bills of various denominations in the receipts of the Walker Bank and Trust company, detectives were placed in various chain stores of the city. Federal officers and the police banked on the theory that whoever was passing the bills would attempt to change them in low-price stores.

Woman Passes Bill
A blonde woman who "had on a house dress such as any housewife might wear" offered a $5 bill in payment for a small purchase. The clerk called the cash girl, who took the currency to the cashier, where it was hurriedly checked and found to agree with a ransom number.

Rogers and Gifford were taken to the federal building, where after a grilling, she was said to have broken down and to have confessed, telling the officers where they might find Waley.

Waley was picked up at a house on the corner of 1st and 2nd streets. He, too, broke last night and confessed his part in the crime, the department of justice said, implicating William Mahan, reputed bank robber, who eluded federal officers in Butte, Mont.

Hunt for Mahan
Following the announcement by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, of the capture of Waley and the woman, police of the Northwest concentrated in a hunt for Mahan.

Hoover's announcement said the pair here had made "full confession," in which they involved Mahan. Mahan, 32, was a blacksmith and mechanic before becoming embroiled with the law, Hoover declared.

Description Given
He was described as "one of the principals of the case" by the federal officials. He was paroled in 1934 from a two-to-four year sentence for grand larceny.

Both Waley and Mahan were reported by Ira J. Taylor, warden of the Idaho state penitentiary, as former inmates of that institution.

Their records show they were already hardened criminals when they came to this institution," he said last night.

Waley and the woman arrested with him cannot be prosecuted in Utah any longer. Joseph H. Uthoff, Utah attorney general, said "passing of stolen money is not a crime in this state." According to the state official, extradition papers will have to be filed.

Patrolman Gifford, questioned after the break, said he had learned through a police checkup that a man giving the name of B. E. Cole had rented a house close in to the downtown section on March 29, paying two months rent in advance. The following day he paid $840 cash for a Ford touring sedan, and obtained Utah license plates 11-795 as A. T. Davis, Gifford said.

Ten days later, Cole or Davis, Gifford said he believed the man to be Mahan. The car which was found there after Mahan had fled from Butte, officers were told, was the type purchased here and carried the same license numbers.

It was a 20-cent cigarette case which led to the breakdown of the kidnappers' "air-tight" scheme for getting rid of the ransom notes.

Monday, June 24, Marion Samuel, 19, attractive clerk in the chain store where Margaret was picked up, revealed the dime store climax of the $200,000 kidnaping.

The woman, hatless, and in a housedress, calmly handed the $5 bill to Miss Morley in payment for the case. With hardly a glance at the bill, Miss Morley handed the money to Miss Samuel, who took it to the cashier where it was identified. A few minutes later the customer was in the hands of justice and the first phase of the Weyerhaeuser manhunt came to a close.

TWO MOTHERS IN CASE HAVE SAY
TACOMA, Monday, June 10. (AP) Two mothers in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping made comment today on developments in the case.

Mrs. Cleo I. Bonney, 50, mother of Harmon W. Waley, held as a member of the gang which kidnaped 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, when told of her son's arrest, at Salt Lake City:

"I don't believe it. . . I can't understand it."

Mrs. J. P. Weyerhaeuser, mother of the kidnapped boy: "Isn't it splendid they caught the kidnappers? The money ($15,155 ransom money found in an automobile in Butte)—well, it's certainly that much to the good, isn't it?"

"The law says death and it is death we will demand."

That was the statement and promise of Prosecuting Attorney Harry H. Johnston of Pierce county today after he received word that two of the kidnappers had been apprehended.

Killingbeck, and L. D. Donnelly, Santa Ana; Fred Miles, Lyle E. Pool and John T. Carpenter, Anaheim; Roy Sawyer, Tustin; A. J. Prink, Long Beach, and Joseph Patterson, Anaheim, foreman.

The present crew was selected after protests had been made that local men could not get city hall jobs.

PICK CREW FOR STEEL WORK
A complete crew of nine steel workers and three apprentices had been selected today for jobs on the city hall now under construction. The men are now working an eight-hour shift, but within two or three days will change to two five-hour shifts, according to V. W. Houghton, resident engineer for the Public Works Administration.

The city hall is being erected with financial aid from the P.W.A. The crew now consists of George E. Hull, Los Angeles; Jack Rose, Fay Grove; Earl Homan, Charles

GEORGE'S DESCRIPTION OF HOUSE ACCURATE
SPOKANE, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Kidnaped George Weyerhaeuser's prison for about one week has two gables, just as he said it did. But "G-men" had possession of it and refused to allow reporters to see whether George's description of the closet in which he said he slept was accurate.

The house, at 1509 West 11th avenue, on Spokane's south hill, is an ill-kept, story and a half bungalow, trimmed in white. One of the gables looked toward the north and the other to the west.

Windows Covered
Shrubbery has run wild around the place, and the grass, where it hasn't died out from lack of water, is rank. Blinds cover all windows, and neighbors said they didn't know when they had been raised last.

Reporters who attempted to inspect the place this morning were told by a man who was inside that "this house was rented this morning." One man, presumably a department of justice agent, gained admittance by knocking three times on a window with a coin. A reporter who tried the same stunt was denied admittance after one of the occupants peered through a window at him two weeks ago, neighbors said, a man and a woman, described as 30 years old and blond, together with two men and a small girl named "Wanda" had been there. One of the men, they said, "looked to be about 21 years old."

He was tall and blond, and in a general way answered the description of Harmon Waley, arrested at Salt Lake in connection with the kidnaping. The woman could have been Mrs. Waley.

The San Clemente recall situation in which an attempt is being made to recall Mayor A. T. Smith had taken a new turn today. Legality of petitions filed with City Clerk Holmes has been questioned and the matter referred to City Attorney Ben Acres for a ruling.

According to Mr. Holmes, part of the signatures did not conform with section six of the recall law. This section, he said, provides that the addresses of signers must be written after the names; but he said that evidently this had been done by someone other than the signers. Mr. Acres has not yet ruled on the question.

Mr. Holmes said the recall promoters could secure the signatures a second time, with the addresses after them, if they wished to do so.

BREAK IN TAX ISSUE SEEN
SACRAMENTO, Monday, June 10. (AP)—Conferees of the senate and assembly seeking to break a legislative deadlock over a state income tax rate schedule may reach an agreement late today on a levy at 25 per cent of the federal rates with dividends exempt.

In the assembly, the Wright measure abolishing the department of motor vehicles and placing the division of registration and the California Highway Patrol under the direction of the state director of finance was passed, 42 to 19.

JUNE 27 IS FINAL LOANING DATE
The Home Owners Loan corporation, a government organization which has been assisting home owners to refinance their obligations, will have served its purpose by June 27, it was announced today by Alfred A. Storey, application clerk. Mr. Storey said June 27 is the final date on which home loan applications will be accepted by the corporation. The amended home loan act does not permit acceptance of applications after that date.

GIRL CONQUERS HANDICAPS Invalid Is Painter, Musician

ORANGE, Monday, June 10.—Among the many shut-ins receiving flowers today on National Shut-in Flower day, is one near Orange, Edith M. Paine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Paine. She has overcome almost unsurmountable handicaps in creating happiness for herself and friends with her lovely pictures.

An invalid since the age of 3, Miss Paine is unable to leave her room, her life being spent between her bed and special chair. She cannot use her hands well, yet she paints, carves and plays a musical instrument. For a number of years she did photo tinting, then four years ago decided to learn painting. Her teacher was Lois Tipp, and she had 21 lessons.

During the past two years she has painted scores of pictures, some originals and others copies, or suggested by pictures she has seen. The originals are pictures of flowers and still life studies. Most of her paintings, however, are landscapes, and many are made from uncolored snapshots, the colors being described for her by members of the family who can visit the places portrayed.

She also makes the frames for the pictures, carving and painting them. Her only help in this work is received from her father, who puts them together.

In her room are about 40 pictures on display. She paints about four hours each day, and practices music about one hour each day. The instrument she plays is a vibraphone, similar to xylophone, played with mallets, but having a soft and vibrant tone.

BIG INDENTURE IS RECORDED
Securing the $16,000,000 bonded indebtedness of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric corporation, a trust indenture was recorded here this morning by officials of that corporation. Coincident with the recording, Miss Justine Whitney, county recorder, verified the action in a long distance telephone conversation with an official of the Chase First National bank of New York City.

The trust indenture, in favor of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings association, released an old indenture covering the same real and personal property of the corporation.

S. A. ATTORNEYS TO WORK FOR HOLC
Clyde C. Downing, attorney, and the legal firm of West and McKinney, have received notice of their appointment by the federal government as foreclosure attorneys in Santa Ana for the Home owners loan corporation.

The news was released through the office of Horace Russell, general counsel for the corporation at Washington, D. C.

DEAN FISK GETS POST AT YALE
Dean McKee Fisk, of the Santa Ana Junior college, has accepted an appointment as instructor in education at Yale University, he said today. Mr. Fiske has been granted a year's leave of absence here, and also plans to do special study in education at Yale during the coming 12 months.

JAYSEE GRADS HEAR HENLEY IN ADDRESS

Pointing out how short a time man had enjoyed civilization in comparison with his long existence in the world, Prof. William B. Henley gave an address on "Beautiful Mud" at the 19th annual Baccalaureate service of the Santa Ana Junior college in the First Methodist church yesterday afternoon, before a capacity audience and a class of 168 graduating sophomores.

Professor Henley, who is assistant director of the School of Business Administration at the University of Southern California, said that if man were to live on and progress indefinitely, he must first find the true purpose of existence. The speaker referred to the Bible in searching for this purpose, and said that it was to help others and thereby make the world a better place in which to live.

Traces Development

Referring to the topic of his address, Prof. Henley compared mud to a beautiful flower, and stated that the mud was beautiful because it could nurture life. He traced the development of the earth from the azoid age to the present, comparing the entire age of the earth to a period of 50 years. He showed how man had been civilized only six months on this scale, had known modern technological inventions only a few weeks, and had expended radio for only a matter of hours.

Other portions of the baccalaureate program included an organ recital by Alan Revill, who played "Prelude in A Flat," by Cui; "Romance," by Franzoff; and "Andante Cantabile," by Tschalkowsky. The congregation sang the doxology, A Capella choir, jaysee chorists under the direction of Miss Myrtle Martin, college music head, sang the anthem "Adornatus te," by da Palestina; Prof. Henley read the baccalaureate scripture from the third chapter of Genesis and the congregation sang "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life," by North.

Events This Week
The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner of the First Methodist church offered prayer, A Capella choir sang "Father, Be Thou Ever Near Us," by Becker; Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of the Santa Ana City schools, introduced the speaker; the congregation sang "Faith of Our Fathers," by Taber; and the benediction was led by Dr. Warner.

Other events scheduled during commencement week are the college banquet at the Santa Ana Country club at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. Commencement exercises at Birch park at 4 p. m. Thursday, with the address to be made by the Rev. Dr. James W. Field Jr., minister of the Los Angeles First Congregational church; and the annual alumni reunion at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Y. M. C. A.

COUNTY WATER DISTRICT BOARD TO MEET TUESDAY

The board of directors of the Orange County Water District is scheduled to meet tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce. News of the fate of the amendment to the act creating the district probably will be available at the session.

The amendment was scheduled for a vote in the state assembly this afternoon. It has passed the senate, but San Bernardino county interests have fought it in the lower house and have threatened to bombard Governor Merriam, asking him to veto the measure. Greater contractual powers and the right of condemnation in certain instances are provided in the amendment to the bill.

PLANS STEAK-BAKE

Members of the "Two-in-One" Sunday school class of the First Methodist church and their friends will hold a steak-bake in Jack Fisher park at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Individuals are requested to bring their own table service, meat, bread, coffee and cream.

W. L. Lytle of Yorba Linda is spending the day in Santa Ana, having come here on a business trip.

Mrs. Ida C. Lake of Anaheim was visiting here today.

WRESTLING MATCHES BEGIN HERE TONIGHT

Column Left!

By FRANK ROGERS

Although we managed to scrape by in all our psychology classes at school the forthcoming Baer-Braddock battle has us in a dither.

We've talked with everyone who would talk with us about it and haven't yet been able to reach a decision. Most of the fans are for believing that it is strictly a push-over for Baer and we're not saying they aren't right. . . . They probably are if Baer's flippant attitude toward the challenger is so much hocus-pocus.

Probably the grinning champ will take care of himself once he gets into the ring, but we can't help feeling that if he takes Jimmy too lightly things may be unhappy for him.

We can't even decide whether Jimmy Braddock is actually underrated or whether we have been the prey of the customary drum-beating by the press agent fraternity.

Whether Maxie is the playboy who would have the masses think—or whether he is a serious young man who places his crown above everything else we do not know.

Of only one thing we are certain. With just a bit of the easy-mark in us and always room in the skull for an underdog, we claim those 5-1 odds are inviting.

There's something about the battle, somehow, that reminds us of the Dempsey-Tunney set-up a few years ago. Dempsey and Baer—playboys; Tunney and Braddock—pluggers.

BASEBALL REMAINS

TOO HIGH HAT STILL

Latest news of the Alabama Pitts situation is that the good-looking lad who made good at Sing Sing has been declared ineligible to play in the minor leagues. He had a job coming up with Albany of the International circuit.

All of which proves, to us, that baseball and its personalities remains the proudest sport of the nation. And perhaps at their own expense. The sport has long barred even the best colored and foreign stars and now turns its back on a real prospect—and one who would have drawn well at the box office.

That the fans had demonstrated their approval of Pitts meant little, apparently, to the monarchs in charge of the game. Pride, evidently, goeth before profit with these boys.

OMAHA IS OFF

TO THE RACES

To grab onto a tattered expression, Omaha, the wonder horse of the year, is off to the races. Having taken the Kentucky derby, the Preakness and the Belmont stakes in order, the 3-year-old with the running-for-a-street-finish is looking ahead. His winners are, rather.

They plan to enter him in the Detroit Derby Saturday and mayhap the $25,000 American derby at Washington Park June 22, the Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct June 29 and the Arlington Park classic July 20.

Gallant Fox, Omaha's daddy, won more than $308,000 as a 3-year-old. Omaha has won $109,930, of which all but $3850 was earned this year, but it's not entirely his fault that it isn't greater—purses are smaller for the youngsters these days.

If the William Woodward nag comes through in the above races, he may come west for the $110,000 Santa Anita handicap in the winter and perhaps show his daddy that his earning power is not so inconsequential after all.

HOW FISHING IS IN

SO. CALIF. WATERS

Here are the latest reports on ocean fishing in Southern California as prepared by the Automobile Club of Southern California:

Malibu
Good catches of yellowtail, barracuda, halibut and bass from live bait boats and barge. Several giant black sea bass have been taken recently from barge. Pier fishing has been good, corbina, perch and halibut being taken.

San Pedro

The "Sunshine II" returned from Catalina Island recently with a number of small black sea bass. Good catches of yellowtail, barracuda and bass are being made on all boats.

Cabrillo Beach

Boats running from the beach are bringing in nice catches of yellowtail, barracuda and bass from around Catalina Island.

Long Beach

Filled sacks of barracuda, halibut, yellowtail, and bass were in evidence after fishing from live bait boats. Barge fishing has been good off Belmont Shore.

Newport-Balboa

Large catches of yellowtail and barracuda are being made from live bait boats. Some old-timers say it is the best fishing they have had for several years. Barge fishing has been fair. Surf fishing continues good, with corbina and yellowfish in goodly numbers.

Fishing fair, yellowfish, spotfin and halibut being taken.

Huntington Beach

Fishing is good from live bait boats and barge with large catches of barracuda and yellowtail during past week.

San Clemente

Fishing excellent, good landings of yellowtail, barracuda, halibut and bass from live bait boats and barge. Barracuda, halibut, spotfin and corbina taken from pier. Good spotfin and corbina fishing in surf.

Cole and Greene Remain at Tustin and Santa Ana

BILL FOOTE AND RED-HEADED ASSISTANT WILL LEAVE FOR EAST SATURDAY

Orange county will not lose two of its best prep coaches after all.

Ralph "Big Bill" Cole, who directs football, basketball and baseball at Tustin Union High school, and Reece "Pinky" Greene, head coach in basketball, track and assistant in football at Santa Ana high school, will remain in these positions for at least another term.

Cole and Greene were recommended for positions in the athletic department of Beverly Hills' new high school, and were among the last to be dropped from a long list of prospects.

Sports followers realize Beverly Hills' loss will be Orange county's gain. Cole has turned out numerous championships at Tustin. Greene is recognized as the ablest Santa Ana basketball coach the high school has possessed in recent years.

Greene will spend the summer in Iowa and Illinois. He and Mrs. Greene will leave for the East with W. W. "Bill" Foote, Santa Ana High's head football coach, and Mrs. Foote next Saturday. The four plan to attend the U. S. C. Ohio state track meet featuring Jesse Owens in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday afternoon, and will leave on vacation immediately following the meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Foote will spend most of their time in Minnesota. Mr. and Mrs. Greene will visit relatives in Sioux Falls and Iowa City, Iowa.

Both coaches plan to return about August 1, and may attend Texas Tech's football school at Lubbock, Texas, the middle of August.

Cole's managerial duties with the Santa Ana Stars will prevent him from going too far away from home, but the Tustin member may be able to arrange the two weeks' trip to Texas Tech, he said.

VICTIMS OF OAKMONT 'ORGY'

When the National Open Golf championship at Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, Pa., turned into a last-round volcano Saturday, these leading golfers were victims as player after player "blew up," bogged down and generally faltered while Young Sam Parks of Pittsburgh marched through to win the title. Gene Sarazen, left, an early favorite, finished in a tie for fifth with a 306; Henry Picard, right, was in the same bracket, while Olin Dutra, below, defending champion, was two strokes behind them. Paul Runyan took an aggregate 307.

DEAN-MEDWICK CLUB CHAMPION AND CUP FEUD BRINGS VICTORIES

Dick Ewert, club champion, and J. W. Beach, recent winner of the President's cup, drew a bye in the first round, but will face C. V. Davis and J. E. Liebig this week in the Santa Ana Country club's annual high-low golf tourney.

Mr. Davis and Liebig survived the opening round by defeating C. W. Bemis, 1 up, over the week-end.

A. G. "Tex" Oliver, Arizona university football and track coach, teamed with R. E. Gray to eliminate J. W. Means and Dick Whitson, 1 up.

Holmes, Langley Win Ed Holmes, former champion of the club, paired with Roy Langley to trim Bill Cubbon and Dee Whitney, 2 and 1.

A. Beard defeated Hugh Shields, 3 and 2, in the finals of the defeated flight in the President's club tourney.

Sweepstakes Winners C. P. Patton and J. K. McDonald carried with honors in Saturday's best ball sweepstakes with a score of 73-9-69. J. K. McDonald, 1 up; R. W. Weston and Dr. W. E. Weston def. Paul Beckman and Nat Neff, 3 and 2. Ed Holmes and Roy Langley def. Bill Cubbon and Dee Whitney, 2 and 1; Elmer Hurry and Foster Neal def. A. Beard and J. C. ## JIMMY AND MAXIE BACK IN TOWN

By EDWARD J. NEIL Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Monday, June 10. With depression a challenger, Big Jim Braddock, back in town after two rough months in the Catskills, and Champion Max Baer finished with his heavy chores at Asbury Park, N. J., the annual hullabaloo of a world's heavyweight championship prize fight was right back in Father Knickerbocker's lap today.

Until Thursday night, when Baer defends his title in a 15-round duel in Madison Square Garden's giant bowl on Long Island, the warriors step aside somewhat as active individuals, giving the experts the field for their predictions, and the customers the best fights of all—for reasonably good tickets.

Financial Outlook Brighter Looked on as a sad financial prospect when unusual circumstances forced Braddock in as Baer's challenger several months ago, the outlook has brightened somewhat with the passing of the training days, but not enough to threaten any of the golden records the team of Rickard, Dempsey and Tunney set in pugilism's heyday.

The chances are that some $5,000 will gather in the bowl, with the receipts ranging around $250,000.

Garden officials said the advance sale already has passed $100,000 and would speed up today with any sort of good weather. Demands for the top priced $20 ringside seats have been modest. The match will be broadcast over a National Broadcasting company network.

Braddock in "Pink" Braddock, a preliminary fighter on the card on which Baer won his title from Carnera a year ago, came down from the Catskills irritable but in as fine shape as his bruising contact work can make him. Not only has his weight risen to 195 pounds since he started eating regularly, but he claims to have grown half an inch in height in the last year.

"I'm in the best shape of my life," he said. "I'm ready for 45 minutes of brawling fighting and Baer had better be ready, too. I only hope Max takes a little time out from fighting to do some clowning for the audience. If he does I'll bust him plumb out of the ring."

Experts Doubtful Experts who could see nothing but the big, handsome Baer at the start of training, are wondering now if the dogged Irish icicle, a slow, methodical, cold-blooded puncher with neither imagination nor fear, hasn't a fair chance to whip the champion. Baer, for all his clowning and declaiming of injured hands, nevertheless has reached magnificent condition in the last week.

DANO, SALICA IN TITLE GO LOS ANGELES, Monday, June 10. (AP) Lou Salica, a youthful Brooklyn boxer only a short time removed from the amateur ranks, wound up training today for his shot at a world's championship.

The lad, who has had less than 30 professional fights, takes on Fabio Danio, little Filipino, at the Olympic tomorrow night in a 10-round bantamweight bout which the California commission proposes to call a titled affair.

25 STUDENTS OF BIRD SANCTUARY PLANNED

MUSIC ARE TO MAKE TRIP

June 14 at 3 P. M. Time
Set for Offering
by Group

ORANGE, Monday, June 10.—The music department of Orange Union High school has been invited to give a program lasting one hour at the California Pacific International Exposition on June 14, at 3 p. m. The program will be given in the house of hospitality.

About 25 pupils from the music department with their teachers, Miss Phyllis Lucy Keyes and Percy Green, will go to San Diego Friday.

The high school feels honored by this invitation to its music department, few schools being asked, and especially since the program is not on Orange County day.

The program to be given follows: Boys' and girls' glee club, "The Builder," "Spring Song," "Serenade," "Richard Harbottle," with Alice Des Larzes as accompanist; "The Spirit Flower," Helen Mollica, with Miriam Powell as accompanist; piano solo, "Valse in E Flat," Alice Des Larzes; boys' glee club, "Passing By" and "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," with "Give Maria" by Doris Asher, with violin obligato by Weldon Dillingham, and with Alice Des Larzes as accompanist; piano solo, "Concert Etude," Marian Powell; girls' glee club, "Moon Marketing" and "Flower of Dreams," song, "I don't Dillingham," with Alice Des Larzes as accompanist; "Carmena," Dorothy Flintham, with Miriam Powell as accompanist; boys' and girls' glee club, "Lincoln."

W. R. C. OF TWO TOWNS TO MEET AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Monday, June 10.—The Woman's Relief Fund of Westminster and Midway City will hold its regular meeting at the Community clubhouse tonight. Following the business meeting, members will entertain invited guests at a card party.

Among the members of the graduating class of the Huntington Beach high school, the following are listed from Midway City: Marie Arnett, Wheeler Birdwell, Ilaeae Hensley, Lois Hart, Alvin Hurst and Robert Rhombold. The graduating exercises will be held Tuesday evening.

On Saturday evening, Mrs. M. E. McKay was hostess at a surprise party in honor of the birthday of her husband, M. E. Mackay. The evening started out with a treasure hunt, followed by other games and a midnight supper. Among those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Heath, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Nelson, Dr. and Mrs. R. I. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Braybrooks, Mrs. Anne Van Steenberg and Alvin and Clayton Van Steenberg.

Dean Pryor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Pryor who had been in the northern part of the state since the close of the college year, arrived home last week and will work for the present with Dr. D. D. Waynick of Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen De Silva of San Diego were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McKay last Thursday evening.

FAREWELL PARTY AT BEACH CITY

NEWPORT BEACH, Monday, June 10.—Mrs. Rowland Thompson entertained Friday in her home with a luncheon honoring Mrs. Don Hinkley, who will leave June 15 with Mr. Hinkley for a two-months stay in their old home town, Gotham, Neb.

A handkerchief shower was given to the honoree, Mrs. John Backus won a prize for bridge in the afternoon. Twelve guests were present.

FACES DRUNK DRIVING COUNT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Monday, June 10.—George P. Meier, 50, Costa Mesa, was arrested by police here on a charge of drunken driving following an automobile accident at Seventeenth and Main streets last night. He is alleged to have been driving on the left side of the road when he crashed head-on into a car driven by D. O. Todd, 414 Fourteenth street. Todd sustained a cut on the head. Meier suffered several broken ribs.

TEACHER HOSTESS TO ASSOCIATES

FULLERTON, Monday, June 10.—Mrs. Lester Seaman entertained a group of her associates on the Fullerton District Junior college and Union high school faculties with a prettily appointed luncheon Saturday in the home of her sister, Mrs. Stanley Chapman, on El Dorado ranch.

Bridge was played in the afternoon.

Project Pushed at Fullerton

FULLERTON, Monday, June 10.—Members of Fullerton chapter of the Izaak Walton league are working on one of their most ambitious projects this week with an attempt to have about 1000 acres north of Fullerton turned into a sanctuary for wild life.

J. C. Gregory, C. B. Johnson and George Lilley, all local Waltonians, contacted Vivian Washburn, Union Oil company official, with a request that the oil company aid in establishment of the land as a sanctuary for birds. They took this action after hearing that plans of the company included burning brush and weeds from the property, which would either drive away or kill thousands of pheasants and quail which live there.

If oil company officials agree to use of the large tract of land for protection of the birds, the state will be asked to accept it as a sanctuary. If state acceptance is obtained, feed troughs and other necessary items for keeping the birds happy will be installed and the land will be under state control.

Gregory said today that a reply from the oil company is expected at the Orange county night meeting, which will be held Wednesday at the Izaak Walton cabin at Hillcrest park here.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Monday, June 10.—Permission to continue drilling operations on the Black Eagle Oil company's tidal land drilling project just west of the city limits, has been given by the state senate. Reversing its stand on this question, the body voted to allow Mrs. Matilda Shallenmiller another six months to complete the well.

Concurrence is expected from the assembly on the measure, introduced by Senator Nelson T. Edwards of Orange county. The assembly oil investigating committee visited the well a few weeks ago while looking over the Huntington Beach tidal land deal.

BACCALAUREATE SERVICE HELD FOR 352 HIGH SCHOOL GRADS

Charging graduating seniors to accept the trust of their education, the Rev. A. E. Kelly gave the Baccalaureate address on "What Is That in Thine Hand?" at services for Santa Ana High school held last night at the First Methodist church, which was filled with friends and relatives of the graduating class.

Invocation and benediction of the service were given by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church. The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner of the First Methodist church read the scripture lesson, and introduced the speaker. The girls' and boys' glee club sang "Omnipotence" by Schubert, and the girls' Sextet, composed of Marjane Belcher, Ruth Switzer, Judith Ruley, Betty Neff, Mabel Young and Margaret Young, sang Beethoven's "Come to Me."

The church was filled as the long file of 352 seniors, in gray caps and gowns, made its procession into the church. Of interest to graduates and many of the audience was the march of Marian Doty, who was stricken with infantile paralysis before she entered high school and has used a wheel chair for transportation at school. She was determined to march at her graduation exercises and made the procession yesterday on crutches.

Roger Fuller and Bob Wilde, juniors, escorted the seniors. Overflow services at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church attracted a full auditorium. The Rev. C. M. Aker talked on "The Gift of Holy Service."

The Rev. Mr. Kelly's address, in part, follows:

The Rod—The Serpent
"It was yonder in the heart of Arabia, at Horeb, the mount of God. There was the bush, burning but not consumed, to which Moses, the Israelite, for 40 years under the tutelage of Egypt's culture, now for 40 years a keeper of flocks across those great open places, turned aside to see. There was the call, the commission, of this divinely prepared man to go back to his people in bondage and lead them out of Egypt's serfdom."

There was the hesitancy of this shepherd, all these years away from the scene of such a service. They would not know who sent him. They would not accept his leadership. Such was his expressed thought. And the Lord said, "What is that in thine hand?" and he said, "A rod." "Cast it to the ground." So he did and it became a serpent. Moses shrank back from it. "Take it up by the tail." So he did. It was a rod again. "Those lovers of signs and magic yonder in Egypt," the Lord was saying, "let them see this and believe that the God of your fathers and theirs has appeared to you and commissioned you to deliver them from bondage. Use what is in your hand."

"Moses, there is your rod, and there is your task. Go and do. If I went not under constraint in another direction, I would be greatly tempted to speak of present-day youth's obligation in commission, youth's obligation in these opening years of a new epoch in the history of mankind to use talent, the resources of body, mind and spirit, in unselfish, constructive service. Moses had no eternal corner on the business of leading slaves out of bondage. Adventurous, able, consecrated, unselfish, young men and women may, if they will, in the immediate tomorrow, lead, in a holy crusade, other Israelites out of other

Egypt. Call it trite, commonplace, the usual baccalaureate stuff, if you please. I say it anyway.

Rickenbacker's Idea
"My generation and the one before have gotten a good many things into a sorry mess. We look on and out. Will Rogers remarked facetiously the other morning that baccalaureate speakers had this anyway to plead—the voting of the Republican ticket. I suppose one might do worse."

"I would rather have you remember the fine word spoken by Eddie Rickenbacker some weeks ago to the Boy Scouts of New York city. Rickenbacker, you know, was a World war ace. In a year and a half he accounted for 35 enemy planes, and came out of the conflict as the premier American flyer. He received the congressional medal of honor, the distinguished service cross with nine oak leaves, the Croix de Guerre with four palms, a decoration from the Legion of Honor, and so on and so on. But when he came to address the Scouts he wore a business suit and no medals were showing. Here is what he was reported to have said:

"It's true. I could have come here with a breast full of medals. But I do not wear ribbons. I am grateful but I have no respect for decorations of that kind. I respect only the awards of peace-time service, for good citizenship such as you have made here today."

Members of the graduating class, the task of good citizenship, first in the Kingdom of God, and then in our world, our own United States, aye, and our own community, to these you are called, to the doing of them you are commissioned.

"The Good in Man"
"But that must be the first direction of our thought this evening. We must come back to our question, 'What is that in thine hand?' A life principle is inferred in such a query. And that may well be our first concern. It was very well stated by the prophet of a more recent sermon on 'The Secret of Victorious Living.' He began his discourse with this key sentence, 'What life in the long run does to us depends upon what life finds in us.' In his second paragraph he added, 'What happens to us from without does not determine the consequence. What happens to us from without pulls our triggers and explodes us, the consequence depends upon what was in us to explode.' 'What is that in thine hand?' 'What life in the long run does to us—what life finds in us.' We have a familiar saying, 'You cannot keep a good man down.' Robert Speer delivered a series of sermons some years ago on the 'Stuff of Manhood.' You cannot keep down a man in whom life finds the good. Given the stuff of noble manhood, and of worthy womanhood, and life discovers that she is dealing with victorious souls."

One Needs Brains
"What is that in thine hand?" "What does life find in you? What have you to offer? What is your life? I trust, the utmost of physical fitness. This would be fine opportunity to discourse on that. I shall not do it; except to say that you are to be good stewards of the bodies with which you have been entrusted of God. In the grueling game of life, they on the average win, whose bodies are under control, and can stand the gaff. What within? I trust, the utmost measure of intellectual ability. I shall not take time to say that, except to say that while Diogenes may still be looking for an honest man, I am sure he is

SERVICES FOR DEPARTING ON WORLD TOUR

FULLERTON, Monday, June 10.—"Thus Far, What Next?" was the topic of the address given by Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor of the Fullerton Methodist church, at the annual baccalaureate service of the high school, held yesterday in the high school auditorium.

A. S. Redfern, vice-principal, presided. Miss Myrtle Klahn at the school organ opened the program playing "The New World Symphony" (Dvorak). Following the procession march and a hymn, Rev. Francis Powles offered a prayer. The high school glee clubs, with Miss Ruth Tilton directing and John Raitt and June Weide as soloists, sang "Open Our Eyes," (McFarlane) and "Omnipotence" (Schubert). Rev. L. I. Chamlee gave the scripture reading.

Following the hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers" (Hemy), Rev. Powles pronounced benediction.

Dr. Graham Hunter, pastor of Fullerton Presbyterian church, presented the address at baccalaureate service for graduates of Fullerton Junior college, held last night in the Methodist church. His topic was "The Whispering Campaign Within You."

The organ prelude was played by Mrs. Harold Nielsen and was followed by the call to worship of Rev. C. E. Maltas. Rev. L. I. Chamlee pronounced invocation, Rev. F. E. Hawes presented the scripture reading and the Humana Symphony sang two numbers. The program closed with benediction by Rev. E. Dow Hoffman.

P. E. O. HAS PARTY FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

ORANGE, Monday, June 10.—Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Alfred Higgins on North Orange street, Chapter S of P. E. O. held a special meeting. Following transaction of business, a party was given honoring Mrs. Dorothy Hayward Cole, a bride-to-be in the early summer.

Bridge was played, prizes being won by Mrs. Flora Johnson, Donald E. Marsh, Robert P. Swank and Elmer Hayward. A galloping prize was awarded Mrs. Alfred Halleck, and a chair prize to Mrs. Keller Watson Jr. Special prizes were given Miss Lois Hallman, Mrs. Melissa Johnson, Mrs. Louise Erbschaw and Mrs. Annice Blythe. There were about 35 guests present. At the close of the game, Chapter S presented Mrs. Cole with a set of ivory Franciscan pottery.

Police Chief and Mrs. George H. Frazen spent the week-end at Catalina Island with friends from Riverside. All attended the annual outing of the Los Angeles county American Legion.

WALTONIANS PLAN FOR FISH DINNER

ANAHEIM, Monday, June 10.—Captain George C. Farnsworth, author, lecturer and worker authority on ocean fish, will address members and friends of the Anaheim chapter of the Izaak Walton league at their monthly meeting at the Concordia club Thursday evening.

The address will follow a smoked fish dinner at 6:30 p. m. Fish for the dinner will be furnished by league members, who have chartered a boat for Wednesday. Smoking of the fish will be handled by Bert Kuebler.

FARM CENTER PLANS FOR FAMILY NIGHT

GARDEN GROVE, Monday, June 10.—A family night program has been arranged for the Garden Grove Farm center meeting next Thursday evening at the Woman's clubhouse at 7:30 o'clock, and all members are urged to bring their families, according to Acting President H. Clay Kellogg. The program, arranged to appeal to the children as well as adults, will include motion pictures taken at the recent Farm bureau picnic at Irvine park by Mr. Kellogg, as well as pictures of field demonstrations in Orange county, to be shown by Farm Adviser Harold Wahlberg.

Music will be furnished by the string trio of William E. Robinson of Artesia.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED

ORANGE, Monday, June 10.—Using a Dutch motif, both in decorations and costumes of the waiters, the junior class of the high school entertained the seniors in the Woman's clubhouse Saturday night with a banquet and dance.

taking some time off to look for one who can think. The Brain Trust may be entirely out of vogue by the next baccalaureate. But do not mistake it, there is still a premium on useful brains. "What within? I trust, the utmost measure of spiritual resources. And here I pause, here I ask you to listen as I plead: Here is more than my opportunity; here is my obligation this Sabbath evening in the Christian worship service, to speak of the spiritual, of the things of God in your lives, of your relation to God, of those inner and indispensable enrichments from God to be claimed by you and possessed by you through Jesus Christ, the Lord. I would above all else that life might find a real experience of God in your hand."

ORANGE, Monday, June 10.—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clayton sailed on the President Hoover from Wilmington today, on a trip that will take them around the world. They plan to return in time to spend Christmas in Orange.

They will remain in San Francisco three days to meet their niece, Miss Helen Biggerstaff of Berkeley, who will accompany them.

One day will be spent in Honolulu, and 12 days in Japan. Korea, Manchoukuo, and Harbin will be visited, then the party will spend five weeks in Peiping, guests of Miss Biggerstaff's brother, Dr. Knight Biggerstaff, who is doing work in history there for the Rockefeller Foundation.

In Shanghai they will be joined by Miss Gertrude Potts, Santa Ana, and a sister of Mrs. George S. Briggs, Santa Ana. From there, they will sail on the President Johnson for Hong Kong, Manila, Singapore, Bombay, and through the Suez canal to Cairo, Egypt, and then to Naples. Miss Potts will go to Vienna where her niece, Miss Janet Briggs, has been attending the University of Vienna for the past two years, while the others will tour Italy and Switzerland. Miss Briggs will accompany the entire party on a trip through Austria and Germany, ending in Paris. Arriving in New York they will go by train to Lansing, Mich., and by motor the remainder of the journey home.

GROCERY SOLD AT WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Monday, June 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Talley, who recently sold their grocery and service station, have moved to their ranch near Anaheim, where they have just completed a new home. Mr. and Mrs. Talley have resided in Wintersburg for 14 years.

Several Oceanview teachers have interesting plans for summer, among them Miss Genevieve White, who will leave soon for Mexico city to take special work at the University of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Manville W. Saxton will spend the greater part of the summer in Los Angeles where Mr. Saxton will pursue his medical studies at U. S. C.

At a recent meeting of the Ladies Aid society of the M. E. Community church, the Rev. Joseph Thompson installed new officers. They are: President, Mrs. Allan Young; vice president, Mrs. E. M. Fox, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harry Letson.

BUENA PARK CLUB HAS INSTALLATION

BUENA PARK, Monday, June 10.—Officers of the Buena Park Woman's club were installed Thursday afternoon in the Woman's clubhouse by Mrs. Marvin, president of the Fourth district Orange County Woman's clubs.

Music was furnished by Miss Claire Le Borg, Mrs. Louise Grenier and Miss Louise La Porte. Mrs. Marvin presented the retiring officers with corsages of flowers, and Mrs. R. D. Temple, retiring president, presented the club with a set of kitchen utensils. Mrs. Emily Warren, president; Mrs. Ruth Thurman, first vice president; Miss Charlotte Held, treasurer; Mrs. Louise Blose, recording secretary, and Mrs. Eleanor Jones, corresponding secretary, were the new officers installed.

VALENCIA HIGH GRADS ATTEND BACCALAUREATE

PLACENTIA, Monday, June 10.—Baccalaureate exercises for students of Valencia High school were held last night in the Presbyterian church, with Rev. D. J. Brigham, pastor, giving the address of the evening.

An anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," was sung by a combined chorus from Placentia churches. Miss Johanna Lemke sang two soprano solos, "Morning" (Speake) and "My Task" (Ashford). Benediction was pronounced by Rev. C. Rogers, pastor of the Placentia Church of the Nazarene. A recessional, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," closed the program.

UNITED TODAY FOR ANAHEIM WOMAN

ANAHEIM, Monday, June 10.—Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. today from Hilgenfeld's Funeral home for Mrs. Alvina Ziegler, 80, who died Friday evening at her home here.

Mrs. Ziegler, a native of Germany, had lived in Anaheim for 24 years. She leaves her husband, George E. Ziegler, a son, Albert Peter, and a daughter, Miss Alvina Peter, both of Anaheim, and four grandchildren.

LEGION AWARDS TO STUDENTS

OCEANVIEW, Monday, June 10.—The American Legion awards given to the boy and girl who have maintained the highest standing in scholarship, leadership, service, honor and courage, was won by Norma Lee Le and Robert Scribner. # END OF PARAGUAY-BOLIVIA WAR SEEN AS PEACE PACT APPROVED

HOSTILITIES OF LONG BATTLE ABOUT OVER

Fighting May Stop By Saturday; 100,000 Reported Killed

BUENOS AIRES, Monday, June 10. (AP)—An end to the prolonged and bloody Chaco warfare between Paraguay and Bolivia was believed in sight today on the basis of a peace formula proposed by neutral American mediators.

The peace plan was submitted to the belligerents yesterday and immediately accepted by Paraguay. Bolivia's concurrence was expected.

Observers expressed the opinion the hostilities might be terminated before next Saturday.

The accord was drawn up in conferences between representatives of Paraguay and Bolivia, with the United States, Argentina, Peru, Chile and Brazil serving as mediating powers.

It provides for direct negotiations between the belligerents during an armistice and demobilization and demilitarization in the jungle battle area.

While the governments studied the proposals, fighting and bloodshed continued along the wilderness front. Paraguay claimed an overwhelming victory in the In-gavi sector, where her communists said 350 Bolivians were slain and 1100 captured. Bolivia asserted the Paraguayans were repulsed with heavy losses in a counter-attack.

The number slain has been estimated at 100,000, despite that no more than that number has ever been engaged in the two armies at one time.

H. S. CLASS HAS 25TH REUNION AT McFADDEN'S

Celebrating the 25th anniversary of their graduation, 10 members of the 1910A class of Santa Ana High school met with four class teachers for a silver anniversary reunion yesterday afternoon at the home of E. T. McFadden, 2121 Greenleaf street.

Reminiscences of the past quarter-century entertained the group. National recognition has been won by Florence Yoch of Pasadena, a landscaper, now in Europe, and by William Binkley, professor of social economy at Vanderbilt university, Nashville, Tenn.

Former teachers present were Miss Sedalia Cubbison, Santa Ana; Miss Una Foxwell, Los Angeles; Miss Elizabeth Wyant, Santa Ana, and H. O. Egeen, Hemet.

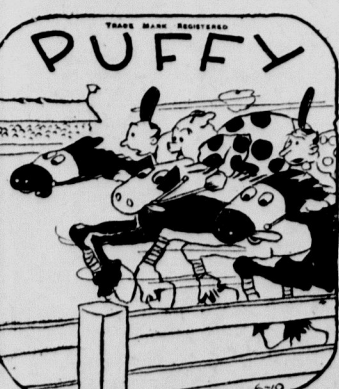

Also present were Miss Aimee Bourdieu, now an art teacher at Los Angeles High school; Miss Mildred Mansur, mathematics teacher at Huntington Park High school; Miss Nell Marie Remsburg, teacher in Pasadena.

Also Mrs. Belle McNeil Anderson, San Diego; Mrs. Louise Gouard Mock, who is now rearing a family in Santa Ana; Mrs. Nellie Hill Loinaugh, who was married after attending Redlands university, and lives in Hemet; Ben Reiland, who followed five years' association with Glenn Martin, with positions in Los Angeles on the school board and with the Santa Fe railroad, and is now a public accountant in Los Angeles.

And Hugh Keen, employed by the city of Los Beach; E. T. McFadden, active in the citrus industry, and Mrs. Marie Harding Thurston, Laguna Beach, a past president of the Orange County Federated Women's clubs, and former teacher at Laguna.

ANAHEIM AIR CADET GETS ARMY CHANCE

Albert N. Kluthe, Anaheim flying cadet, has been selected as a member of the air corps training class which will begin a year's flying instruction at Randolph Field, Texas, in July. Upon completing their training the man ranking as flying cadets will be assigned to a year's service with the Army Air Corps. Afterwards they will be commissioned second lieutenants in the reserve.

Puffy's still in third place, but he's riding like mad. He's gaining. He's SECOND! But still it looks bad. The finish is only a few yards away. And Puffy simply CAN'T be the loser today.

PARENT PROBLEM SOLVED

They're Filed Away at Ranch

Rancho Santa Ana Botanic gardens in Santa Ana canyon has solved the problem of what to do with "parents." The garden staff simply files them away in alphabetical order for future reference. Already they have preserved 7000 parents of native plants growing on the 200-acre tract. They are all neatly pressed, catalogued and shelved.

Hundreds of Santa Ana residents, many of them parents, learned of this system Saturday when they journeyed to the rancho and viewed the displays of wild flowers and other native California

JOURNAL PLANS COOK SCHOOL JUNE 19-21

June 19-21 are important dates for Santa Ana home-makers who will be offered the latest news in recipes and cooking technique when the Santa Ana Journal and Hotpoint combine to sponsor an all-electric cooking school in Veterans hall.

Open to the public, the school will be under supervision of Mrs.

MRS. RUTH ERB

Ruth Erb, specialist in home economy. Informal demonstrations will be made from the stage by Mrs. Erb, who will explain the efficiency, economy and simplicity of electric cookery.

Original recipes, menus, ideas for entertaining, and plans for housework economy will be explained by Mrs. Erb. Practical innovations will be outlined for application in the average kitchen by the instructor.

A full program of interesting exhibits has been planned for the three-day series of classes. The Journal and Hotpoint plan to make it the most interesting and valuable cooking event ever attempted in Santa Ana.

Valuable prizes will be given at each session of the school.

SCIENCE CHURCH TOPIC ON "GOD THE ONLY CAUSE"

"God the Only Cause and Creator" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Lesson-Sermon included also these Bible verses from the Acts: "And a certain man came from his mother's womb, was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple, which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple; who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms. . . . Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up; and immediately his feet and ancles received strength."

Among the citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were the statements: "Meet every adverse circumstance as its master. Observe mind instead of body, lest aught unfit for development enter thought. Think less of material conditions and more of spiritual." "Immortal Mind is the only cause; therefore disease is neither a cause nor an effect."

Orange County Has 11 New Residents

Here they are: 11—count 'em—new residents of Orange county, shown as they stepped off the bus here last night, fresh from Holland. They are the Halman family who came here to enter the dairy business with relatives a few miles southwest of Santa Ana. Reading from left to right they are: Johannes, Gerard, Josephine, Francisca, Dina, Gertrude, Mrs. Halman, the mother, and Joseph Halman, the father, and Anna, Johanna and Gertha. The five suitcases shown are but a small portion of their luggage, really! Anna, with the quaint Dutch hat, had a brilliant smile for the photographer.

11-COUNT 'EM-REACH CITY

Dutch Family Arrives By Bus

By TED STEPHENSON

"Eight—nine—ten—eleven. Well, by gosh, I guess we got 'em all here!" was the comment of the bus driver as a family of 11 Hollanders stepped out of a Pacific Greyhound bus here last night to be greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Osterkamp, proprietors of a dairy located several miles southwest of Santa Ana.

The occasion was the arrival from Holland of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Halman, father and mother of Mrs. Osterkamp, and nine of the Halman children, Gerard and Johanna, and Francisca, Johanna, Josephine, Albertha, Dina, Anna, and Gertrude. Four other daughters, Mina, Margaret, Julia and Marie Halman, were left in Holland, and four other children, including Mrs. Osterkamp and Pete and Zachariah Halman and Mrs. Thalia Boera are in California. The latter three live at Hynes.

The Halmans, tired and travel worn from their 7000-mile trip from their home in Oldenmark, province of Friesland, Netherlands, were overjoyed at the reunion made possible through the thoughtfulness of Mr. Osterkamp who arranged to have them brought here.

INSULL AWAITS FINAL TRIAL IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Monday, June 10. (AP) Samuel Insull today awaited with confidence of victory the start of what was believed to be a "trial to end all Insull trials."

The former utility magnate tomorrow will go into federal court to answer to the last charge remaining against him as a result of the collapse of his industrial empire in 1932. Twice before he has won acquittal, once by a federal jury verdict and once in state court.

Insull, 75, is charged in this final case with violating the federal bankruptcy laws by transferring some $2,500,000 in assets of Corporation Securities Company, after he allegedly knew it was bankrupt. Co-defendants in the action are his son, Samuel Jr., and Harold L. Stuart, investment house head.

One of the principal factors of the prosecution expected to be a check for $1,000,000 which the government charged was transferred in violation of the bankruptcy law.

The defense will be based on the claim that the actions were "poor business judgment" rather than any intent to commit fraud.

From East, Nan Mead Writes List of Jr. Ebel Appointive Officers

Laguna Hotel Scene of Party

Young Clubwomen Close Year at Luncheon; Contract Played

Announcement through a letter sent from Chicago, Ill., by the president-elect of Santa Ana Junior Ebel, Miss Nan Mead, served to announce appointive officers of the Juniors for the coming year, at the final luncheon meeting of the year, Saturday in Hotel Laguna, Laguna Beach. Mrs. Clarence Slemmons, retiring treasurer, read the letter, which was addressed to Mrs. Roger Heame, incoming treasurer. Mrs. Heame was unable to be present.

Miss Mead's appointments follow: Miss Loretta Spangler, press chairman; Mrs. Louise Norton, editor, The News Letter; Miss Frances Bowman, membership; Miss Elizabeth Smith, courtesy; Mrs. W. C. Lightfoot, social; Mrs. F. F. Mead, jr., historian; Mrs. Kemper Taylor, parliamentary; and Mrs. Henry Hodges, house.

Forty attend luncheon. Forty clubwomen attended the luncheon, served in the hotel dining room overlooking the ocean. Mrs. Don Park, retiring president, announced that because of a number of officers being absent, installation would be postponed until the first meeting in October. She also spoke briefly in appreciation of the support given her in the closing year by her officers and fellow clubwomen.

Mrs. Slemmons gave the treasurer's annual report, and Mrs. Norton reported on the auditing committee. Miss Eleanor Crookshank reported on the club's recent annual semi-formal dance, of which she was general chairman.

Three Senior Ebel members, retiring and incoming presidents and the southern district federation chairman of juniors, were present and spoke. Mrs. Davis, retiring president, thanked the Juniors for their co-operation in the closing year and for the $139 contributed to Senior Ebel treasury. She complimented them on their gain of 39 new members this year.

President Praises Mrs. Fred Rowland, new president, praised the club's seven active sections, and Mrs. White told of her great pleasure in working with the group.

Miss Florence Brownridge presented Miss Loretta Spangler's historian's report for the year.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in playing contract bridge in the lounge, and in having fortunes told by Miss Patricia Balfour of Hollywood.

EPISCOPAL GUILD LUNCHEON DRAWS LARGE CROWD

One hundred and ten guests were attracted to the benefit luncheon given Friday noon at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah by St. Elizabeth's guild.

The social hall had been beautifully decorated with Matilda poppies and bougainvillea. During the luncheon a trio played, composed of Fay Spicer, violin; Rosemarie Flint, violin; and Audrey Pieper, piano.

Prizes in the play of cards which provided entertainment for the afternoon went to Mrs. Howard Stone, Mrs. Sara Haddon, Mrs. Oliver Harnois, Mrs. William Almas, Mrs. George Applegate and Mrs. McKaye.

The luncheon committee included: Mrs. George E. Lusk, chairman; Mrs. Maudie Adams, Mrs. T. B. Applegate, J. W. Crawford, Ira Mercier, Macie Hunt, Wilsey and Mercier, Mrs. A. H. McKelvey and Mrs. F. N. Anderson; tickets, Mrs. William H. Wollaston, and Mrs. Charles Swanner.

Do There in Cross Stitch as Pictures or Pillow Cop

PATTERN 5371

If cats are your weakness, here is a chance to indulge to your heart's content. These lovely kittens are a delight to embroider—the cross stitch (8 to the inch) goes quickly and is so easy to do. You can do the kittens in a variety of colors making them look like very life-like portraits. Do them in wool, silk or cotton—any one of these is effective.

In pattern 5371 you will find a transfer pattern of a pair of heads  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$  inches and of a kitten  $6\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$  inches; color chart and key; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, 117 W. Fifth St., Santa Ana, Calif.

Mrs. Charles Spicer Launches Smart Summer Party Series

Launching a series of smart summer parties at which she will be hostess in the coming weeks, Mrs. Charles Spicer entertained Friday and again Saturday with contract bridge luncheons in her lovely home at 2348 North Park boulevard.

For each luncheon Mrs. Spicer appointed her luncheon table with Italian linens and centered it with an orchid crystal bowl in which were blended amethyst, rose and orchid-tinted sweet peas and Canterbury bells from the garden of Mrs. E. B. Sprague. Two orchid crystal bases held tall tapers in harmonizing color.

Bride-Elect Honored By Two

Miss Bertah Selway, daughter of Mrs. H. J. Selway of 1015 North Broadway, and bride-elect of Perce Paige of Los Angeles, was complimented Saturday at a 1 o'clock luncheon for which Mrs. Lynn H. Crawford and Mrs. Boyd S. Munger of Santa Ana shared hostess honors in the summer home of Mrs. Gilbert Kraemer, 1106 East Front, Balboa.

Miss Selway, whose wedding date has been set for June 28, wore an attractive light blue crepe shirtwaist frock and a corsage of blue pansies and pink roses presented her by the hostess duo.

Mrs. Crawford wore a turquoise lace afternoon frock with corsage of flame perigonium. Mrs. Munger was in rust boucle with harmonizing corsage of rose and yellow pansies.

Prizes of Pottery

The luncheon tables were centered with little white bowls of blue cornflowers and pink larkspur. Afterward, the tables were cleared for contract bridge play. Prizes of white pottery went to Mrs. Francis Wight and Mrs. Don Hillyard. In keeping with the pink and blue color motif, prize packages were wrapped in pastel tissues tied with silver ribbon. A guest prize of turquoise pottery went to Miss Selway.

Marcia Lee Munger, young daughter of Mrs. Munger, presented the shower gifts, most of which were by an odd coincidence pieces of the same type of pottery chosen by the hostesses for their guest gift.

Marcia Lee was dainty and pretty in her yellow organdy frock which blended in color with her yellow curls.

Other Guests

Other guests were Miss Carolyn White, Redlands; Mrs. Chester Stafford, Hollywood; Miss Arline Spear and Mrs. Raymond Smith, Los Angeles; Mrs. Rudolph Richards, Pomona; Mrs. Fred Dodge, San Marino; Mrs. Clarence McFadden, San Juan Capistrano.

Also Mesdames H. J. Selway, E. D. White, Ralph Livermore, Sheldon Russell, Milan Miller and R. Carson Smith and Misses Frances Egge, Grace Robertson, Willa Foster, Bernice Boyd, Mary Safley, Jean Goodwin, Tessie Childers and Lota Blythe.

Yacht Scene Of Dinner Party

The yacht "Lestelle," anchored at the Newport Harbor Yacht clubhouse mooring in the bay, was the scene of a pleasant party at which Miss Martha Tadlock of Tustin entertained a group of her friends yesterday.

The day was spent in beach sports, and the hostess served an informal supper last evening.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ault, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Lykke and Dr. Don Cleland and Mrs. Cleland, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Yonel, Inglewood; Mr. and Mrs. Don Reed, Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Poyer and George Daws, Anaheim.

Mary Cianfoni Is Lovely Bride

Wearing a filmy white afternoon frock and a white hat and carrying a formal white bridal bouquet, Miss Mary Cianfoni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Cesare Cianfoni of Los Angeles, formerly of Santa Ana, was a beautiful bride when at high noon Saturday in St. Alban's Episcopal church she was married to John Swarthout, son of Dean and Mrs. Max Swarthout of Los Angeles.

The Rev. John Bryant read the marriage ceremony in the presence of 150 guests.

Before the ceremony, Edward Dunning of Los Angeles sang two solos. Halstead McCormack of Santa Ana, organist, played the traditional wedding music.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Cianfoni, who wore aqua blue silk crepe and carried pastel flowers. Miss Cianfoni arrived from the north early Saturday and returned the same evening. She will be remembered by the bride as one of the Donas of Santa Ana Junior college's annual Fiesta.

Bridesmaids Wear Pink

Bridesmaids were Miss Katherine McBride and Miss Ruth Peterson of Los Angeles, both wearing pretty pink frocks and carrying pink rosebuds and amethyst sweet peas. Young Jeanne Swarthout, wearing sunshine yellow silk crepe, was flower girl.

R. E. Swarthout attended his brother as best man. Austin Francis Mills-Menzies and Norman Wright were ushers.

After the wedding a reception was given for the bride party and members of the families of the bride and bridegroom in the home of the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Swarthout wore a blue and gray summer ensemble when she left with her husband for a brief wedding trip to Catalina Island. They will return to make their home in the Park View apartments on Exposition boulevard near the U. S. C. campus while both complete work on master's degrees.

At S. C. The bride is to receive her degree in dramatics, and Mr. Swarthout will receive his in political science, which he plans to teach.

Bride Prominent

Mrs. Swarthout was both prominent and popular in the Santa Ana schools and since attending U. S. C., where her romance had its beginning, she has won numerous honors.

She is a past vice president of the National Collegiate Players, a past president of the school of S. C., is vice president of the graduate school, and has taken a very active part in campus dramatic productions. In the recent Southern California tournament of one-act plays in Santa Ana, she played opposite her husband in the play which won the Emma Otis trophy, and she has appeared in a number of earlier plays here. She is a Zeta.

Mr. Swarthout, whose father is dean of the school of music at S. C., is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Sigma Alpha and the National Collegiate Players, honorary fraternities, and Kappa Alpha, school fraternity.

He is president of the student body of the graduate school, past president of the student body of the University of International Relations at S. C., president of the National Collegiate Players, and has been active in dramatics during his attendance at U. S. C.

DISTRICT MEETING OF R. N. A. SET FOR TONIGHT

Culminating a nine-month campaign for new members, the final district meeting of Royal Neighbors of America will be held tonight in the K. of P. hall at 7:30 with Magnolia camp as hostess.

The then, organizations will be represented: Mrs. Lenora B. Fletcher of Long Beach, district deputy, will preside. Mrs. Lenora Farmer will direct the local work. Vaudeville, dancing, and cards are scheduled for entertainment. Each camp is to bring cake and sandwiches for its own members.

The Cook's Own Corner

The Journal wants to give its readers at least one tasty tried-and-true recipe each day. We know all good cooks are modest about telling their recipes, but won't you please help fill this corner by giving us your favorite ones? Call 3800 or address the Cook's Corner.

SPANISH SAUERKRAUT

By Mrs. James A. Tarpley 648 North Van Ness street. The recipe takes 1 can sauerkraut. Separately, fry 1 onion in olive oil. Combine sauerkraut, onion, 1 can chili sauce and if wished, a little chili powder. Cook together, and the result is a surprisingly delicious variation of sauerkraut. Mrs. Tarpley says. The recipe is her own.

HARDBOILED EGGS, CHEESE SAUCE

By Mrs. E. M. McDonald Garden Grove street. Use whatever amount of eggs desired. Make a 2-cup recipe of white sauce. When sauce is done, add about 1/2 cup grated cheese. Cut hardboiled eggs in halves or quarters and pour cheese sauce over them.

Gibbs-Hatch Nuptials Solemnized in Fullerton Church

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in a candlelight service at First Baptist church, Fullerton, the marriage of Miss Leora Hatch, attractive daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hatch of 930 South Ross street, to William H. Gibbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. William I. Gibbs of Bonnie Brae street, was solemnized by the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, Baptist minister.

Two hundred guests attended the wedding. The church was decorated with quantities of summer flowers and greenery, and a trestle of flowers under which the bridal party stood.

Before the ceremony, Roy Barnes of Los Angeles, accompanied at the organ by Miss Eleanor Tate of Fullerton, sang "I Love You Truly" and "O, Promise Me." Miss Tate then played the traditional wedding music.

Sister Lights Candles Hollis Gibbs, young sister of the bridegroom, wearing a green or-gandy formal, advanced to the front of the church and lighted the numerous ivory candles.

The bride, who entered the church with her father, wore a simple white satin princess gown made with sleeves puffed to the elbow and tightly fitted to the wristline. Her tulle veil fell finger-length from a wreath of tiny gardenias. She carried a very formal bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley tied with white tulle and satin.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Hatch, wearing aquamarine net with a ruffled full skirt, and a little straw turban, and carrying yellow rosebuds.

Bridesmaid in Yellow The bridesmaid, Misses Betty Dunion, Florence Campbell and Elaine Hatch, all wore yellow net frocks, similarly made, and carried armful of blue delphinium. The bride's mother was in yellow crepe and Mrs. Gibbs wore gray with blue accessories. Both mothers had gardenia corsages.

Lloyd Gibbs was his brother's best man. Minor Whitfield, Louis Denninger and Carl Lamb were ushers. After the wedding, the bride exchanged her gown for a traveling costume of white wool with pink accessories, and left with her husband for a Northern California motor trip. After next week they will be at home to their friends in Fullerton.

The bride is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Junior college. Her husband is a graduate of Santa Ana High school and Los Angeles Business college, Los Angeles. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Phi and Phi Gamma Kappa fraternities and is employed by the Denninger Garment company.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Revill, who are soon to leave for a summer trip to England, entertained Saturday evening with a farewell party, a buffet supper and bridge affair.

The "bon voyage" theme was evidenced in supper table appointments.

Guests included Col. M. B. Wellington and Mrs. Wellington, Messrs. and Mesdames D. K. Hammond, Loyal K. King, W. H. Spurgeon, Thomas Hall Glean and Harvey Smith, and Mesdames David J. Howell and Elsie Wingood Daley of Santa Ana and Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Young of Los Angeles.

WOODROW WILSON P-T. A. CHAIRMEN ANNOUNCED

Announcement of committee chairmen for Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher Association was made by Mrs. Fred Thompson, president, at a meeting of the organization held Thursday afternoon in the kindergarten room of the school.

The executives include Mrs. F. Carson Smith, program; Mrs. Thomas Tournant, membership; Mrs. D. E. Winterbourne, publicity; Mrs. S. C. Main, magazines; Mrs. Marcus Lassiter, hospitality; Mrs. F. C. Watkins, ways and means; Mrs. J. Hollorith, visiting; Mrs. F. White, summer roundup; Mrs. Ed Hagthorp, moving pictures; Mrs. J. Johnson, welfare.

At the request of Mrs. Russell Adkinson, retiring president, Mrs. Harry C. Brown, junior past president, officiated at the meeting. A past president's pin was presented to Mrs. Adkinson by Mrs. Carl Edgar, and Mrs. Brown presented Mrs. Fred Thompson, new president, with a procedure book and gavel.

On the afternoon's program were vocal selections by a quartet composed of Burrell Lee, Jack Thompson, Richard Williams and Bobbie Winterbourne. Miss Beulah Parker accompanied on the ukulele.

Hostesses of the afternoon were Mesdames Smith, M. Cumberland, and M. K. Tedstrom.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS TO HAVE SUPPER FOR PARENTS

Mothers and fathers of Job's Daughters will be honored at a pot-luck supper tomorrow night in the Masonic temple at 6 o'clock.

Election of officers will feature the meeting, to which the honored guests also have been invited. Honored Queen Eloise Schrier will preside.

The Mother's council, under chairmanship of Mrs. Leslie Pearson, is in charge of the dinner. The council will elect officers at a session following the dinner.

FRENCH GROUP HAS DINNER PARTY AT ARCH BEACH

Twenty-one fellow French students of Miss Farla Nell Clayton in Santa Ana Junior college were entertained by Miss Clayton at a dinner party late last week in her home at Arch Beach.

After dinner in the large living room of the cottage, which has an unobstructed view of the ocean, the guests gathered around the fireplace and sang, gave charades and played games in French.

Three Feted At Supper Party

Dean and Mrs. McKee Fisk and Miss Agnes Todd Miller, who are to be away from Santa Ana next year, since both the dean and Miss Miller have been granted a year's leave of absence from their duties on the Santa Ana Junior college faculty, were honored yesterday at a Sunday night supper given by Mrs. John Tassman, Mrs. Eleanor Northcross, Miss Mary Swass, Miss Lillian Dickson and Miss Mabel Whiting, at the Tassman home on East Seventeenth street.

The 6 o'clock supper was served at small tables in the garden. Mrs. Ernest Crozier, Phillips and Miss Lolla Watson presided at either end of a long table and served the arriving guests. Sixty-five college faculty members and their husbands and wives were present.

Using a color motif of blue and yellow, the hostess group had centered the little dinner tables with bowls of blue and yellow pansies. Inside the home quantities of corsages and bachelor buttons were effectively used.

Dean and Mrs. Fisk's plans for next year are still uncertain, although he is considering accepting a teaching fellowship at Yale. Miss Miller will study toward her master's degree at the University of California, Berkeley.

After supper the guests sat around the open fireplace in the Tassman home and talked informally.

THREE ARTISTS EXHIBIT AT MAD HATTER

Thomas Craig, Borse Miller and Milford Zornes, three widely known California artists, are exhibiting paintings in the Mad Hatter cafe, Laguna Beach.

Christian Rub, who created the role of Kringlein in the stage play "Grand Hotel," and who has just completed work in "Peter Ibbetson," was a guest at dinner last week in the Mad Hatter.

LITERARY GROUP TO MEET AT BEACH HOME

Members of the modern literature section of Santa Ana Ebel society are to go to Laguna Beach Friday for a 12:30 p. m. luncheon in the home of Mrs. Frank Eby.

An informal program is being planned.

VOL. 1, NO. 35 Monday, June 10, 1935

THE GREATEST NEWS STORY

WHAT conceivable event would you, reader of The Journal, regard as the greatest news story this paper could publish?

In the June issue of Column Review, a number of first rate reporters and editors gave their answers to the question. Here are a few of them:

"The reliable announcement of a cheap and easy chemical process for making food out of sea water"—Jay Franklin, celebrated political observer.

"The elopement of Mrs. Roosevelt with Senator Huey P. Long"—Drew Pearson, co-author of Washington Merry-Go-Round.

"The achievement of actual, universal peace"—Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent.

"A sudden reversion in fact to 'government of the people, by the people, for the people'"—John T. Rogers, Pulitzer prize reporter, St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"The assassination of Hitler, definite proof of immortality, finding of a chemical that would create supermen, the loss of President Roosevelt today or another world war"—J. V. Connolly, newspaper syndicate head.

"The defeat of the United States by Japan on land and sea, following a declaration of war by Tokio on the Long-Coughlin government at Washington, and the occupation of this country by the Japanese"—Arthur Krook, Washington correspondent of the New York Times.

Admittedly any one of these would keep the news columns of this paper filled for weeks, or in some cases years, but how about the discovery and universal injection of a serum which would cause every individual always to speak nothing but the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth as he saw it?

BOAR-R-RD! IT'S RAILROAD WEEK

THOSE whistles you heard this morning signaled the start of Railroad Week, lasting until the fifteenth. The roads have been making the grade a little better recently, so they're going to celebrate.

Not so many years ago the railroads seemed about the most prosperous business in the country—and railroad men the most romantic. Who didn't want to be a brakeman, swinging a lantern and riding perilously atop the speeding cars? Or a denimed engineer, hand on the throttle, as the limited roared by? Even the telegrapher, hunched over his key under the oil lamp in the little country depot, lived in a glow of romance.

There were no concrete highways then; no flashing beacons lighting the airways. Between towns, you traveled by train. Either that, or by horse and wagon over rocky trails called roads.

Nobody paid much attention when a man monkeyed around with a spark plug, a steel cylinder, a piston and some strange stuff called gasoline. But the first spark-driven explosion in that cylinder spelled trouble in plenty for the Iron Horse. And still spells trouble.

Some roads were almost run out of business.

But today the railroads are fighting back, with new equipment, new speed, new comfort. There's still a share of travel for them, and they are after it. They realize, a bit late perhaps, that hundreds of thousands of children have never ridden on a train. And wonder if they could be persuaded.

Of course, there will be plenty of business in America for railroads for years to come. The roads are wise in fighting for it; wise in looking ahead; in bettering their facilities.

And perhaps, after all, there's new romance in the flash and whirr of a new streamline train, singing along the silver rails at 100 miles an hour.

SHOULD WE BE PROUD?

FATE oftentimes strikes its victims in unexpected form and place. Col. Lawrence, mystery man of the World War, around whose mystical person gathered the glamor of Arabia, who courted death a thousand times, was fatally injured in a motorcycle accident on a quiet English road. The gods of chance, who watch their votaries with jealous care, shielded this mythical King of the Bedouins through every "fling of outrageous fortune," but finally deserted him, leaving him mangled in the peaceful English countryside. Marshall Soult, Napoleon's stormy petrel, surviving the leaden hail of a hundred battlefields, was killed in a fall from his horse while riding over his private estate. Napoleon himself suffered ignoble death from stomach ache, induced by over-indulgence in fried onions. Reminds one of the stunt flier who fell to earth dozens of times, and at last met death by falling out of bed. Or the heavy-weight champion choking to death on a fish bone. Or the jungle elephant eaten to barest bone by a swarm of voracious ants. When Nemesis snaps her shears in such incongruous manner one may be excused for turning an ear to fatalism.

To moralize is easy. Perhaps the mighty of earth, those seemingly fortunate individuals who ride to fame and power on the backs of other men; those shrewdly unscrupulous manipulators, who deftly turn life's assets to themselves and divert the liabilities to others—perhaps these fellows are more the creatures of circumstance than they admit. Perhaps their elevation to power and fortune is not due so much to their own shrewdness and cunning, and worth, as to the fact that certain conditions have pushed them forward. With different conditions they may sink again to the common level.

At least there is little excuse for self-glorification in viewing the shifting vicissitudes of life. Today an Insull, tomorrow a fugitive from justice. Now a Gen. Hugh Johnson, cracking down on New Deal opponents; the next moment, helplessly baying at the moon. We may chant with Lincoln, "Why should the spirit of mortals be proud?"

Whimsies of O.O. McIntyre

Diary: A blond, glossy morning but a day of doldrums. So in a spurt of labor and away in the car, driving to

H. T. Webster's at Shipman Point and by the Bernard and Gimbel's and back too late to dine with Frank Shuts and Arthur Brisbane at the Waldorf. In the afternoon talking to John Ringling and found him in chirky spirits and he told of the day a wheel flew off in "the blues" at my birthplace, Plattsburg, Mo. So in the park thinking of the recent tragic passages on the same day of Emily Whitfield and Harry Acton, who seemed so well and happy when I saw them last.

To a spare-rib dinner with Lisle Bell in a Yorkville beer garden and he told of planning to stop smoking by chewing cocoa beans but found there were 23 qualities. And not knowing which to use, began smoking more furiously than ever. At Messmore Kendall's awful and abed reading Don Clarke's newest, "Kelly."

The autograph hunters seem to have tired of the chase. The starting hyena-like group that clotted under first night canopies is still there but rarely does one step out of line to thrust forward his album of signatures. A growing obstinance on the part of autographes may have something to do with the decline but a bigger reason is the novelty wore off. Not even John Barrymore was solicited.

A runner up for Noel Coward's toga in London is Ivor Novello, a sleek haired, American born youth, a rival for Coward's patent leather sophistries and multiplicity of talents. Like Coward, he is also an accomplished dancer. His current play at Drury Lane is one of the season's hits. Incidentally, London has the most strikingly named revue in several years in "Shall We Reverse?" which tops Coward's memorable "This Year of Grace."

Personal nomination for the most terrifying moment ever experienced in the theatre: The second act finale of "Ceiling Zero."

New York tears down—deracinate is the word—its buildings with almost the devastation of a tornado. I passed the old Hammerstein Victoria corner, where the Rialto movie stood, one evening shortly after dark. It was glittering with lights and its first floor shops as bright as ever. Next evening at the same hour, it was almost a hollow shell, dark and forbidding with ramparts of scaffolding. Over night it had been gutted. Business had vanished like a mistral.

Myrna Loy's first visit to New York was a study in expert stand-offishness. As one of the most widely advertised what-it-takes-lakes many of the town's Don Juans were prepared to run through their rigamaroles. But after each shook her hand, each realized that was that. What she expresses on the screen, that warm and languorous come-hither, completely jelled in real life close-ups. She was the most expert curdler of the romances ever encountered. In fact, it was reported that several of them met her and went smack into a congestive chill. To add to the frigidity, the siren wore smoked glasses at her appearances in public. Nothing repels flirts like smoked glasses.

And there's the famous new magazine cover girl who has the beaux of the town on the que vive. She is a 20-year-old San Antonio, Texas, product with the alliterative name of Janice Jarrett. The beauty pickers of the ad agencies and art departments went into a huddle and classed her as the No. 1 typical American girl. Despite the adulation, it has not turned her head. At the peak of her popularity she is hopping off the merry-go-round to return to San Antonio for three months' repose and reflection. And she's not certain she wants to return to the whirl. That is a reaction seldom noted among professional beauties.

Bagatelles: Harry Thaw has not appeared in public in New York in a year. . . . Jules Bache does not wear his monocle in the subway. . . . The Prince of Wales has a bird dog named Algernon. . . . Gregory Ratoff, excited, loses his accent. . . . Helen Morgan brings out the biggest list of professionalists to her cafe openings. . . . Gene Fowler likes to take midnight walks in old carpet slippers. . . . The Martin Johnsons always take a jar of old-fashioned apple butter into the jungle. . . . George M. Cohan has kept a room at the Astor since his early days. . . . When Fullerton Weaver went on a diet, his wife, who didn't need it, followed his routine. . . . She lost 10 pounds. . . . He gained that many.

OLD TOMBSTONES SCARED CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Holger Cahill of the Museum of Modern Art, New York, is alarmed at the destruction vandals are doing in Charleston's historic graveyards. Visiting here, he expressed concern after seeing sightseers scratch their names on tombstones dating back to the seventeenth century.

Defeatism

Senior year at high school was not a happy time for Bobby Smith. He fell behind in his work, took no real pleasure in the recreation and merriment of his friends, and frequently used the phrase: "What's the use?"

He was so unlike himself that his parents thought he was sick. But his ailment was not physical. It was sheer dread of what faced him after school. No one seemed to hold out any hope for his future, and instead of looking forward to doing something in the world, playing a trade, or going to college or technical school, he anticipated with sick apprehension going out into the world which offered no hope for the future.

Many Crepe-hangers The world is at the moment full of crepe-hangers. Lawyers warn boys to keep out of the legal profession. "There is no longer a living in it." Architects mourn that architecture is not what it was. Doctors, engineers, all the professional men draw gloomy pictures of the future. And finally, economists, lecturers, even parents shake their heads and doubt if there is a living to be made in any line of work.

The result is, schools and colleges filled with boys already discouraged before they have even started on their careers. The responsibility of life weighs them down, and they face the coming years without hope.

World in Muddle It is both cruel and ill-advised to create and foster such a defeatist attitude among the young. The world has been in a muddle before and probably will be again, and it is short sighted to suppose that it will not recover.

You should be given a constructive standpoint to spur it on to effort, to build up its determination to make good. To start youngsters on their way downhearted and looking for defeat is the surest way to insure their failure.

Feeling Well Today?

Acidosis

The term "acidosis" has been hawked up and down the length and breadth of the land. Tons of alkaline compounds have been sold to the public, to whom acidosis has become a bugaboo and alkalies a lifesaver.

The fact of the matter is that there is no special evil in acids and no special virtues in alkalies. The body suffers alike from an excess of alkalies as it does from an excess of acids. The body needs, equally, acid compounds as alkaline compounds.

The chemical reaction of food before being eaten and its chemical reaction when it has undergone the intricate chemical alteration effected by metabolism, differ radically. Oranges, for example, are acid when tested by litmus paper, but the orange eaten and metabolized leaves alkaline ash.

An alkaline compound introduced into the stomach may provoke the secretion of a concentrated acid gastric juice, with the net result that the alkalies are neutralized and the actual chemical reaction of the body is not affected one bit either toward the alkaline or the acid side.

In health we need not worry about acidosis or alkalosis, nor do we need to be concerned about our food and their chemical reactions, if our diet is wide in variety and includes the principal dietary staples, such as meat, fish, eggs, cereals, fats, vegetables, fruits, milk and foods made from milk.

When a diseased condition develops, as for example, diabetes, or in certain emergencies, a condition correctly designated as acidosis may develop. In such instances, however, specific dietary and other treatment is indicated and these should be prescribed by the attending physician and not attempted by the individual either at his own suggestion or that of a friend.

The common talk of acidosis, acid stomach, acid system, and such terms, may be set down as 99.9 per cent pure bunk.

CHEER UP, BILL

(Emporia (Kan.) Gazette) Honorable Bill Lambertson of Brown county, congressman from the First congressional district, in his weekly letter to his constituents lifts up his voice and declares:

"It is in conservative waves like this that some people lose their heads and let the ever-alertness of special privilege and selfish interests get a better foothold. O God of Hosts be with us yet!"

Oh, Bill of Brown, cheer up, cheer up! The Lord of Hosts is on his job. The priests of Baal can't make the fire burn. They never could.

In two generations since the Civil war the Grangers came and went. The Greenbackers rose and fell. The Populists descended like the locusts from Heaven. Bryan appeared in glory and terror, and lo, one day he was not. Roosevelt fulfilled full panoply out of the place where Bryan's cohorts went down. And behold, at Armageddon the Philistines smote him to the earth. LaFollette a cloud by day, and a pillar of fire by night, put the fear of God into a trembling plutocracy, and then the places that knew him, knew him no more.

But strangely, yet always surely, out of the ashes where these phoenix birds were burned, arose the realization of their visions. They lay them down with the fathers beside their shattered dreams, and while they still slept their visions came true, and only their sleep was the illusion.

The NRA and many of its inequities, its failures and its shortcomings have disappeared. And it is as though they had never been. But in failure lies the seed of success. So whatever is true, whatever is just, whatever is of good repute is not lost. It will rise again.

It was thus in the other days when the fathers fought their losing fights and losing, won. We shall hold for the generations under the constitution in the fullness of time and with due process of law all that should survive, all that is fine and fair that has just gone down with the New Deal program. So old Bill Lambertson, pull

HAPPY FACES

(Westminster Gazette)

It's strange how about this time of the year the children seem to be happier than usual. They go about the community running and skipping, smiling and laughing.

We are at a loss to figure it out as the only possible connection can be that schools are closing for summer vacation and surely that can have nothing to do with it. Oh, no.

As far as that goes the teachers look just as happy as the kids at the prospect of time out from the task of educating our future presidents, statesmen, etc.

down your vest, wipe off your chin, take a hitch in the belt of your pants, screw up your courage, render your faith and keep your dauber up. These are great days. Go out to the cemetery and tell the boys who did not live to receive the promises, what a grand old day and time it is!

Lemon Juice

Howdy, folks! There are many golf jokes these days, including the little shrimp in baggy plus fours.

Now that outboard motorboats have underwater exhausts, look for a great increase in deafness among south coast fish.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Loren H. Lettuce, Irvine resident, has solved the problem of guest towels in his home. "No-body ever uses a guest towel," states Mr. Lettuce, "so I merely painted one on the wall of the bathroom."

A young husband in superior court complained that his wife pelted him with glass ornaments. Some people prefer to get rid of wedding presents in this manner instead of breaking them in cold blood.

CUTTING REMARKS

Oh, Razorblades! About this time many persons are learning that the summer resorts they visited last year are really as awful as they recalled.

Many a two-car family lives in a one-horse town.

ABIGAIL APPLESAUCE SEZ: "It seems unfortunate that only people who know how big things should be done are tied down to trivial jobs."

Joe Bungarter declares that nothing puts a damper on a party quicker than an eagle-eyed hostess who follows a guest every time he goes into the kitchen.

TODAY'S DEFINITION

A fashionable woman is one who has what everybody else has before anybody else gets it.

They say the dollar of today goes farther than the dollar of several years ago. Perhaps this is true—we don't know. All we ever see is the start.

YE DIARY

Lay late a-bed, pondering this and that and what not, in especial the following items: What has become of those whimsical fellows who used to tell bedtime stories over the radio? Do Scotchmen ever carry their bagpipes to gasoline stations to be pumped full of free air? What am I going to do with all my medals and citations for noble acts? Why fat flappers insist upon wearing "shorts"? What has become of that First Street underpass? And so, pondering these and other weighty matters, up and to breakfast.

Gotta be running along. Gotta date with a sirloin steak.

SUNDOWN STORIES

Uneasy Willy Nilly

"What is the matter?" Mrs. Quacko Duck asked the little man Willy Nilly. There was a look of worry in his eyes.

"Rip didn't come home for supper," answered Willy Nilly. "Oh, quack-quack, that shouldn't worry you," Mrs. Quacko returned. "He said he hadn't had a long cross-country run and walk."

An automobile belonging to Dr. C. D. Ball, which was left in front of the opera house last evening, was taken by some person or persons unknown, and was found this morning at Parton and Second streets. The machine had been run until the engine quit working, and then was left in the middle of the street.

According to a press dispatch, cabinet workers in Turin, Italy, have struck for a wage of nine cents an hour.

It's selling like Peruna in a dry town, and why shouldn't it? We call it our "Honolulu Special," and Boy—some sundae!

Advt.

For ever so long and he's probably enjoying himself immensely." "That may be," answered Willy Nilly, "and I wouldn't be worried were it not for the fact that he said he's home. He does what he says, that dog."

"He probably went further than he realized," answered Mrs. Quacko Duck, "and is on his way home now."

"Now you really mustn't worry," Mrs. Quacko continued. "Rip has only been off from us once so that we had cause for worry. True, last winter he was away in the blizzard, but that was only because he was trying to rescue the man who had stumbled into a drift and hurt himself. The other time was when his license hadn't been paid and he was picked up and taken to the pound."

"His license is paid, but he didn't wear his collar."

"Every one around these parts knows he has a license and that he just doesn't bother all the time to wear his collar with the license attached."

"I hope you're right, Mrs. Quacko," replied Willy Nilly. "I wish I hadn't this feeling of uneasiness."

"I'm sure you needn't have it," Mrs. Quacko said. "Rip is so well known all over the countryside and everyone one likes him."

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C.F. SKINNER (Skinny) SKRIBVIN

Over the week-end. Some of 'em went so far over they haven't got straightened up yet. That is why I advise a strict adherence to those homely virtues which permit a man to return to work Monday morning with the old head clear as a bell, and the vesper of evening singing an approval of self-respecting conduct.

Sunday morning: With its usual pastoral atmosphere. In the old days the church bell sounded the welcome and announced the hour of service. Now the newspapers tell you the time, the place and the subject. You may not hear the bell, but on the way to your place of worship the old auto horn will give you notice that you might not reach the sanctuary if you prefer to sleep en route instead of waiting until arrival.

And while we are on the way to the land of Nod I never have had a satisfactory explanation as to why the old eyelashes come during the morning service, when they are alert every other forenoon. There must be some psychoanalysis for this condition. It isn't offensive unless the patient starts to snore.

The movement from the inland coastline increases. There is a diversification both in cars and equipment. Some of the occupants are prepared for the ocean plunge before they arrive, and others arrive prepared who never take a plunge. It depends upon what you go to the beach for.

There is an occasional trailer filled with all the household accessories from corkscrew to pajamas. Another week-ender is hauling an outboard motor, and then some tired soul with a pre-war lunch takes along the mattress. If you are on Main street Sunday forenoon you can tell what some of the vacationists haul to the beach, but you can't tell what you will take until you make arrangements for the same trip, and then you will in all probability have the same equipment which you criticized others for taking.

Occasional stops for lunch, gas and oil, essential vacation accessories. An irritable child and a crabby dad. Makes a tough combination for mother, who is supposed to meet every emergency.

It's high noon. Maybe you've been watching the clock. You've been waiting to end before the dinner spoils. It's all right. I also have watched the clock, too. Most of the ministers I know get hungry the same time I do so there is a reasonable prospect that the service will close both the spiritual and physical comfort of all concerned. They always have, so why worry.

And the dinner is over and everything washed up and the dishes. Now there's the problem. Whether to go to the beach or the mountain and leave the dishes unwashed, or to come back to a sink looking like a city after a Halloween celebration. By the time a decision is made the afternoon has dragged along until any trip is abbreviated, and whether to go or all is being considered. Then some friend pushes the door bell and the question "where to go" is settled by an outside influence. You stay home.

Jack Bealer slips me a note about trailers and their habits. He says Laguna Beach threatens to change the name of the state to Trailer Cove. He said sixteen arrived Saturday night for an over-Sunday visit. Some of my friends have told me that some of their week-end trips to Laguna Beach have been so interesting that it has been difficult sometimes to tell when they started or where they ended.

Late Sunday afternoon: The whispering wind is coming in from the beach, but evidently has been subtilized as it doesn't say anything. But the way it feels is satisfactory. This gentle zephyr always precedes the trek for week-enders back to the city and inland communities. It's the signal for a pack-up. So all along the Orange county waterfront the personally conducted family transports are pushed into the loading zone for the journey back to the home place. There is the usual search for lost knives or forks; an argument as to why there is so much more to take back than there was to bring out, but finally the "go" signal appears, the driver steps on the gas, and they are on the way.

Into the traffic of "stops" and goes. What the occupants have actually accumulated over the week-end is a bad case of ennui, burnout, a sour disposition, and an expense way beyond the original calculation. With this he has accumulated some joy and the exhilaration of a day at the beach. But when I observe that procession of automobiles passing along Main with their dejected inhabitants and tired appearance, I ask you if this is—

The end of a perfect day?
